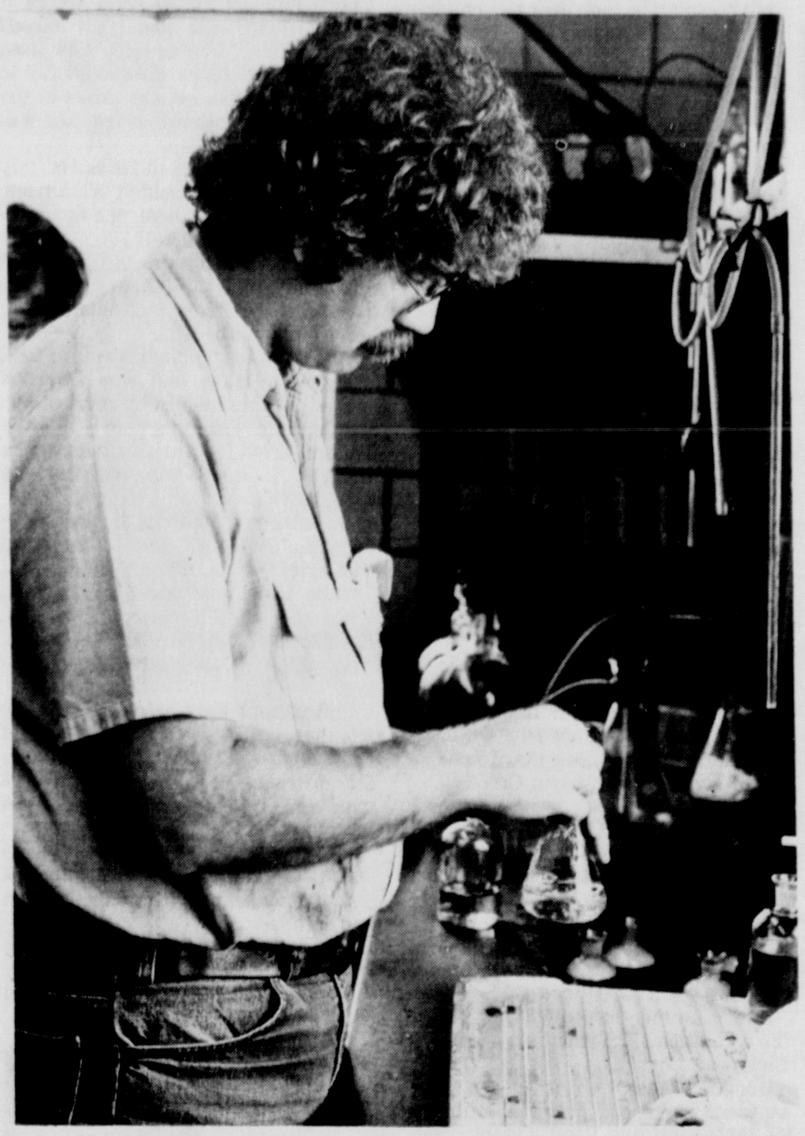
Columbus Sewage Has Little Affect On Scioto River



'GOOD' SCIOTO RIVER — Clyde Houdeshell, chief operator of the Circleville Sewage Treatment Plant, runs dissolved oxygen tests on a water sample taken from the Scioto River Monday morning — results that showed the water to be "good".

While water samples taken from the Scioto River continued to be satisfactory, Circleville officials will still take precautions for several days to insure that raw sewage dumped into the river by Columbus will not affect the health of wildlife and humans in the area.

The Scioto is not nearly in the condition the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency predicted, according to Circleville Public Utilities Director Chuck Taylor.

That prediction was made Thursday night following a strike by non-uniformed Columbus workers — a strike that flooded the Scioto River with 125 million gallon of raw sewage a day. Since then, supervisory workers reopened one of two sewage treatment plants in Columbus, and this morning the OEPA ordered the city to open the other.

Officials were fearful of the water condition when an abnormally low dissolved oxygen reading was apparently recorded by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources Friday morning.

There were no large fish kills or contaminated areas in Pickaway County, as a result of the sudden influx of sewage. In fact, dissolved oxygen tests of the river water were very similar to those monitored during hot, summer weather.

The river samples have been checked daily, according to Russ Chester, city worker, who collects samples at various locations.

Dissolved oxygen (DO) and Biological Oxygen Demand (BOD) tests are run at the laboratory in the old sewage treatment plant south of Circleville.

Clyde Houdeshell is chief operator of the plant.

Results of testing this morning revealed that the river water contained 4.2 milligrams of oxygen per liter of water.

Tests are made by mixing the water samples with manganous sulfate, alkaline iodine, sulfuric acid, starch, and sodium thiosulfate.

The men were concerned about a high 9.4 ph reading obtained Friday morning from first samples. However, that acidity rate dropped to 6.9 today. Houdeshell said tap water contains a 7.2 ph rate.

First readings Friday at the Main St. bridge also showed a DO rate of between 7.6 and 7.9 , according to Taylor. At the same time, workers collected DO rates of 2.8 at the Route 665 bridge and 2.2 at the Route 762 bridge.

A dissolved oxygen rate of less than 2 is considered poor, he said, and could result in a fish kill.

Several fish have been claimed by the pollutants, however.

As an added precaution, Taylor has ordered water works employes to draw water from underground wells farthest from the Scioto. That water is checked every two hours, he said.

Ford Signs Tax Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every American taxpayer and corporation will be affected by a tax bill being signed by President Ford.

The President arranged a White House ceremony today to put his signature on the measure, which continues present individual and business tax cuts through 1977 and makes hundreds of changes in the tax laws. The individual cuts total more than $18 billion.

The Ford administration has expressed fears that Middle East peace efforts could be harmed by a section denying certain tax breaks to U.S. companies that participate in international boycotts such as the Arab action against Israel.

The bill, more than 1,000 pages long, was two years in the making and is acknowledged to be the most important tax legislation since 1969.

A major section extends for 18 months the package of antirecession tax cuts enacted last year.

Without the extension, a typical family of four earning $6, 000 a year would have faced a tax hike of $445 a year. For a family of four earning $15,000, taxes would have risen $180 a year. A single person earning $8,000 would have paid $182 more, and a couple earning $10,000 would have faced a $204 tax increase.

Under the law, taxes of wealthy individuals will rise, largely because of an increase in the minimum income tax and new restrictions on the use of "tax shelters."

But taxes of airlines, railroads, shipping, insurance and some other companies, including those with high pollution control costs, will be reduced by other provisions.

The bill liberalizes the existing system of tax writeoffs for child care costs, while restricting deductions for such things as vacation homes and the business use of a home.

It almost eliminates the present partial exemption from taxation of sick pay, limiting such exclusions to disabled persons in the lower-and middle-income ranges.

Parents who have to hire a baby-sitter so they can hold their jobs can have their tax bills cut by as much as $800 a year.

Many housewives can qualify for the first time for tax-deferred pension plans.

The complex retirement-income credit will be replaced by a more generous, simpler credit that allows elderly persons to cut their taxes up to $375 a year.

The law also cuts and restructures the federal estate and gift taxes. It reduces from the present 5 per cent to about 2 per cent the number of estates each year that pay any estate tax at all.

Among other effects, the bill will raise to a little more than $425,000 over the next five years the amount that can be left to a wife or husband taxfree. That amount is $120,000 now.

Most of the tax changes will take effect this year or next, but some will not be phased in until later. Five years from now the bill will produce a net federal revenue increase of about $984 million over the amount collected under the present law.

ROUNDTOWN

THIS is National Fire Prevention Week ... The Circleville Fire Department will be visiting various elementary schools in the city this week to show a fire prevention film and answer questions from the pupils ... This Saturday the firemen will be giving rides to children in the downtown area ... Starting at 9:30 in the morning children will be able to ride on the department's Mini-Pumper, the 1929 Seagraves pumper, or the 1966 Aerial ladder truck ... Fire Chief Mike Brown will give Herald readers a fire prevention tip every day this week ... The tip for today is to check your basements, attics, and garages for unwanted materials that could make good fire hazards ... Brown urges that all such materials be discarded or removed from your home.

SCHEDULE for the injections of bivalent flu serum to persons 60 years of age or older has been announced by the Pickaway County Health Department ...

The bivalent serum is a combination of drugs designed to inoculate "high-risk" persons against A-Victoria and New Jersey (Swine) flu ...

Immunizations will be given by needle and syringe ...

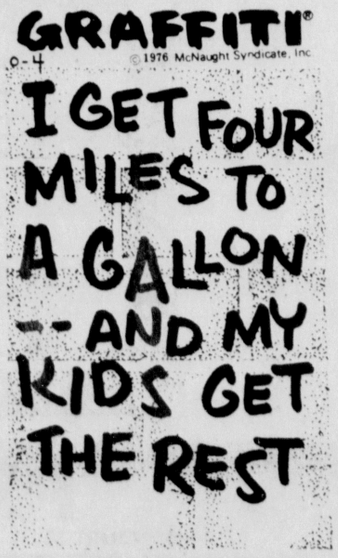
The first immunizations will be given Thursday, Oct. 14, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Williamsport American Legion Hall ... That same day, workers will be administering shots from 1 to 3 p.m. at the IOOF building in Derby ...

On Friday, Oct. 15, the drug will be administered from 9 to 11 a.m. in the Ashville Lutheran Church and from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Tarlton Town Hall ...

The drug will also be administered Sunday, Oct. 17, from 1 to 4 p.m. in the 4-H and Grange Building at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

THE Westfall High School Marching Band received third place in the Fairborn Marching Band Competition Saturday ... There were 15 bands in Westfall's class.

THREE Pickaway County residents are $15,000 richer today although they didn't fare so well in the Ohio Lottery's first Instant Jackpot drawing Sunday at Thistledown Race Track, North Randall ... The three are: Robert Bruce Liston, 1931 N. Court St., Larry K. Barker, 125 Villa Drive, and John Handley, Orient.



Tips For Saving On Taxes

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

When you spend can sometimes be as important as what you spend in determining income tax deductions.

It is none too soon to start thinking about next April's tax bill, deciding whether you want to spend now or delay purchases until 1977.

The idea is to use the deductible expenses where they will do the most good. If you lump medical expenditures, charitable contributions, etc. into one period or the other, you may be able to cut your taxes by having itemized deductions greater than the standard allowance.

(The standard deduction currently is 16 per cent of adjusted gross income — after business expenses, but before most other deductions — with a maximum of $2,400 for single persons and $2,800 for married couples.)

Now, figure out whether there will be any big difference between your income this year and next. Deductions generally increase in value with the size of income. If, for example, you are paying 10 per cent of your taxable income in taxes, you save $10 for every $100 in deductions; if you earn more and are in the 25 per cent bracket, you cut $25 off your tax bill for every $100 in deductions.

If you expect your income to drop — because of retirement, for example — it probably pays to spend now so you can have the deductions for a year when your earnings are high. If you expect your income to rise — a new job, a working spouse — you may want to save the deductions.

Even if your income will remain about the same, timing can save money. Here's an example from the tax experts at Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank:

Assume that for both 1976 and 1977 you expect to qualify for the maximum standard deduction of $2,800. Your itemized deductions will probably run no more than $2,700 for either year, so at first glance it would appear that you would be better off settling for the standard allowance and getting $5,600 in deductions for two years.

Suppose, however, you have $500 worth of deductible items for which the bills are due in January. By paying them in December, you bring your 1976 itemized total to $3,200. You have cut $500 off your 1977 total, but it doesn't matter. You can take the $2,800 standard allowance in April 1978 to get a two-year deduction of $6,000.

For someone in the 30 per cent bracket, the extra $400 in deductions means an extra $120 savings.

In order to take advantage of the timing plan, you have to know which items you can shift. It is hard for people whose money comes from wages to shift income; the year's last paycheck counts as 1976 income, even if you don't deposit it in the bank until January.

Deductions are easier to shift. You can pay medical bills early, for example. Suppose you have pledged $200 to a charity. You can make good on the pledge now instead of next year if you want to boost the 1976 deductions or vice versa. Sales taxes on major purchases add up. Do you want to buy a new car now — and get the sales tax deduction for 1976 — or in January when the deduction will go toward the 1977 tax bill.

Ouster Of Butz Remains Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) An obscene racial slur by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz is warming up as a campaign issue, with an aide to Jimmy Carter saying President Ford's refusal to fire Butz shows Ford is failing to provide leadership.

An aide to Butz said Sunday that the secretary, though he would not offer to leave the Cabinet, would quit if Ford asks him to leave. The aide said Butz is "is concerned about the effect on the President's campaign" that his vulgar remarks about blacks might have.

Butz, who had been actively campaigning for Ford, was forced by Republican leaders to cancel a speaking appearance Sunday in Toledo, Ohio. An aide to Butz said the secretary may be ill with a virus but was still scheduled to appear today at Camp Hill, Pa.

The controversy centers on Butz' references to blacks as "coloreds" and vulgar and derogatory descriptions of what he said were their sexual, dress and bathroom preferences.

Demands for Butz' ouster increased over the weekend. An aide to Ford said the President "would not be stampeded" into firing the Cabinet officer.

Carter said Butz' comments were "disgraceful" and said he "should have been fired a long time ago." Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, charged that Ford was demonstrating a lack of leadership by not firing Butz.

Powell said, "The President's decision on whether or not to ask for Mr. Butz's resignation appears not to be based on whether that resignation would be right but on what the polls show and on what the political reaction is."

A White House spokesman denied Sunday that Ford was waiting 48 hours to sample the political reaction to Butz' remarks. The White House said Ford severely reprimanded Butz before the matter became public. Ford said such remarks were "highly offensive to him and to the American people."

Butz has apologized for the remark, saying it was "an unfortunate choice of language." He has contended he was repeating an old joke.

Viking Data Casts Shadow On New Trip

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — In less than three months, two robots have increased man's knowledge of Mars a thousand times. But Viking 1 and Viking 2 have not found any Martians, and that may endanger the prospects of a Viking 3.

For a while it seemed as though the traveling laboratories from earth had indeed found evidence of life. Their early experiments came up with enticing results, but the test to confirm those results failed. The promising processes have now been chalked up to a bizzare chemical system beyond immediate explanation.

Scientists have not given up all hope, however, and some are quick to point out that the Vikings have examined just two tiny parts of the planet.

They would like to put on Mars a mobile Viking 3, equipped with crawler tracks and instruments better able to look into the findings of Vikings 1 and 2. "Imagine what we could see if we could move around," said a NASA official.

Project manager Jim Martin believes the United States will be going to Mars again "in reasonably short order." But another mission could cost upwards of $1 billion, and some people in the space program admit that without the spectacular selling point of life on Mars, it may not be easy to get Congress to finance a Viking 3.

"We really thought we would be lucky to find life," said Dr. James Fletcher, NASA chief. "If you found life, you might be making a manned mission to Mars before too long. But we weren't that lucky."

Exactly what Vikings 1 and 2 did find, no one is sure. But they have sent back from 200 million miles away a stream of exotic data — and will continue to do so at least until October 1977 — in return for the slightly less than $1 billion it took to get them there.

High Court Slates Major Cases Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is opening its new term with arguments on an unusual number of important cases crammed into its first two-week session.

The court scheduled arguments for today on a case in which 23 states are asking the justices to overrule their 10-year-old Miranda rule restricting police interrogation of suspects.

Other cases to be heard later this week and next week deal with charges of sex, race and religious discrimination in housing, the treatment of employes and the sale of beer.

Although not unprecedented, it is rare for the court to hear so high a proportion of its major cases in the opening days of the term.

At any rate, the court's announced schedule should decrease the chance that virtually all of the major decisions will be put off until the closing days, as they were last term.

The case on the Miranda rule arises from a federal court decision overturning the murder conviction of Robert A. Williams in the death of 10-year-old Pamela Powers of Des Moines, Iowa.

The girl was slain on Dec. 24, 1972, at the Des Moines YMCA, where she had come with her family to see her 14-year-old brother compete in a wrestling match.

Williams surrendered to police in Davenport, Iowa, two days later. A federal judge ruled that, on the way back to Des Moines, a police detective had tricked Williams into leading police to the girl's body, although Williams had asserted his right to answer no questions until he saw a lawyer.

Under the Miranda rule, a suspect in custody must be told of his right to a lawyer and his right to remain silent. If he chooses not to talk, police may not question him. If they do, the evidence they obtain cannot be used against him.

Twenty-two states have filed briefs supporting Iowa's argument that this rule should be overturned and the suspect's statements should be allowed as evidence as long as they were given voluntarily.

Arguments are scheduled Tuesday on a challenge to an Oklahoma law permitting women to buy 3.2 per cent beer at age 18, although men may not buy it until 21. Opponents of the law seek a declaration from the court that laws relating to the sexes must meet the same strict constitutional test as racial laws.

On Wednesday, the court will hear arguments on behalf of Hasidic Jews in Brooklyn that a legislative reapportionment designed to favor blacks and Puerto Ricans is reverse discrimination. The reapportionment split the Hasidic community between two districts.

Arguments are scheduled for Oct. 12 on the appeal of the Parker Seal Co. of Berea, Ky., from a ruling that it violated a federal law against religious discrimination in employment when it fired a supervisor who refused for religious reasons to work on Saturdays.

On Oct. 14, the justices will hear arguments on the issues of public housing in the suburbs and whether pregnant women are entitled to disability pay.

Two County Men Killed In Collision

Two Pickaway County residents were killed Sunday morning in a two-car collision on State Route 316 west of South Bloomfield.

7 Dead In 1976

Danny Ray Reynolds, 17, of 5026 West St., South Bloomfield was dead on arrival at Berger Hospital. Paul B. Harbour, 61, of Route 1, Williamsport died shortly after arriving at Berger Hospital.

According to the State Highway Patrol report, Reynolds was eastbound on State Route 316 at 12:35 a.m. and Harbour was westbound on the highway just east of Sate Route 104.

Reynolds apparently went left of center on a curve and struck the Harbour vehicle head on.

The investigating trooper was David Daley.

This accident occurred within a mile of a four-car collision Friday evening which also involved a head-on collision.

Born Oct. 9, 1958 in Columbus, Reynolds was the son of Carl C. and Sophia Spurlock Reynolds, who survive at South Bloomfield.

He was a senior at Teays Valley High School and Eastland Vocational School.

Other survivors include one sister, Karen Reynolds of the residence; two brothers, Dean Reynolds, Ashville, and Scott Reynolds of the residence; grandmothers, Mrs. Florence Spurlock, Ashville, and Mrs. May Reynolds, Huntington, W. Va.

The funeral service will be held 11 a.m. Wednesday at South Bloomfield United Methodist Church with the Rev. Howard Allison officiating. Burial will be in Harrison Twp. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Bastian Funeral Home in Ashville 7-9 p.m. Monday, and 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Tuesday.

Spanish Leader Gunned Down

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP) — Unidentified gunmen spraying machine gun fire from a speeding car assassinated a member of King Juan Carlos' advisory council today in the downtown section of this Basque city, police said.

First reports said the assassins also killed a driver for council member Juan Maria de Araluce, Villar and a police inspector riding in an escort car behind them.

The king was in Madrid at the time.

Police said Araluce, member of the ultra-conservative Council of the Realm and president of the government of surrounding Guipuzcoa province, died almost instantly. They said the shooting occurred as he was being driven from his office for lunch.

Weather

Mostly sunny and mild today with a high in the middle 70s. Partly cloudy tonight with a low in the lower 50s. Cloudy with a chance of showers or thundershowers Tuesday with temperatures in the low 70s. Chances of percipitation, near zero today, 20 per cent tonight and 30 per cent Tuesday. High Saturday was 71 with a low of 50. Sunday's high was 76 with a low during the night of 45.

Vetoes, Probes Occupied Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two years of the 94th Congress saw headlines inspired more by scandals among its members, confrontations with a vetowielding President and investigations than by legislative accomplishments.

But as time provides a longer perspective, the period that ended with adjournment last Friday may be seen as a turning point when the legislative branch began to turn against a century-long drift of power to the executive branch.

Using for the first time the budget procedures enacted by its previous Congress, the 94th took hold of the national budget as a whole, set spending and taxing goals and held to them, and asserted against the President its own views of national priorities.

Previously, the executive branch had the initiative in setting over-all goals, while the legislative branch merely approved individual pieces of legislation.

One Congress doesn't set a trend. But the next occupants of Capitol Hill and the White House will be watched to see whether a real shift of power within the federal government is under way.

The heavily Democratic Congress elected in 1974, after Watergate had disgraced a Republican administration, was itself wracked by scandals and allegations of scandals among its own members.

The fall of Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, was the major case. Hays had made a major power base out of his post as chairman of the House Administration Committee, with wide authority over members' perquisites.

He was also a force in the Democratic Caucus, chairman of the party committee that channeled campaign funds to congressional candidates and of a major international relations subcommittee.

Then, a $14,000-a-year secretary, Elizabeth Ray, accused Hays of putting her on the payroll only to provide him with sexual favors.

Hays, after initial assertions that he was being blackmailed, admitted a "personal relationship" but insisted Miss Ray was paid only for legitimate work.

Under pressure from colleagues and under investigation by the Justice Department and the House Ethics Committee, Hays resigned first his committee chairmanships, then the renomination he won after the scandals broke, and finally his seat.

A rash of allegations against other members ensued, but none produced such results.

However, the House, already nervous over polls giving Congress a low rating in public opinion, instituted some reforms in its handling of official accounts, payrolls and travel expenses and set up a commission to study and recommend more.

In an unrelated matter, on recommendation of the Ethics Committee, the House reprimanded one of its senior members, Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla., for alleged financial impropriety.

It was the first time that the low-profile ethics panel had recommended disciplining a member.

The Ethics Committee investigated allegations of improper release of secret materials. The major case involved the leaking of a House Intelligence Committee report to CBS correspondent Daniel Schorr.

The committee never determined officially who leaked the information. Subpoenaed to testify, Schorr refused to name his source, and no action was taken against him.

Committees of both chambers investigated intelligence agencies. Wrongdoing on the part of the CIA and FBI was reported.

Tax changes enacted in two stages probably had more direct impact on more Americans than any of the other actions by the 94th Congress.

Individual and corporate income tax reductions amounting to about $19 billion a year were put on the books. Ford's proposals for deeper cuts — to be balanced by equal cuts in spending — were rejected.

A tax revision package enacted in the last days of the Congress fell short of the hopes of many would-be reformers. But it did trim some tax preferences and increase revenue estimates by $1.6 billion — not far below the goal set under the new budget procedures.

The 94th Congress' worst performance — in the opinion of many of its members — was its failure to enact an over-all energy program to increase domestic supplies, encourage or enforce conservation and reduce dependence on oil from foreign countries that could both boost prices and play international politics with the vital commodity.

Philosophical differences with President Ford's administration played a part in the failure, but so did deep divisions in Congress and within the Democratic majority.

Congress did enact a variety of energy bills, such as one encouraging long-range research on new energy sources and means of propulsion.

What was to have been the over-all energy bill kept the House, Senate and White House busy during most of 1975, with compromises repeatedly sapping its provisions. What became law allowed partial decontrol of oil prices, set mileage standards for automobiles, gradually tightening over nine years, and encouraged mining and use of coal.

Congress also wrestled with the problems of te Postal Service, plagued by deficits and accused of inefficiency. No substantial changes were made, but an additional $1 billion in subsidies was voted.

Revenue-sharing, the program of returning federal tax money to states and cities, was extended through 1980 at an increased level.

The Voting Rights Act, credited with increasing blacks' opportunities to vote, was extended for seven years with provisions designed to help other minorities.

The copyright law, unchanged since 1909, was rewritten to take into account problems raised by such innovations as office copying machines and jukeboxes.

Federal proclamations of states of emergency, some decades old, were officially terminated, thus limiting presidential powers and wiping out some 470 obsolete enactments.

Moving into foreign affairs, an area that presidents consider their own, Congress ended U.S. activity in the Angolan internal troubles by cutting off funds.

But the 94th Congress also eased the ban on arms sales to Turkey imposed by its predecessor as a result of Turkish occupation of part of Cyprus.

CHECKS PRESENTED — Pickaway Shrine Club President William Ammer, right, presents checks totaling $2,000 to the Potentate of the Aladdin Temple, Ralph C. Lincott of Columbus. The checks are the net profits of the Pickaway Shrine Club Horse Show held in August. The money will go to the Shrine Burns Hospital in Cincinnati, and the Aladdin Temple Crippled Children's Fund.

Woman Drowns Children, Herself

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fred Dixon, off in Korea with the Army, knew something was wrong with his wife, Melinda, but he feared she would kill herself if he took their two children from her.

On Saturday, she threw the children to their deaths in the Schuylkill River, and then jumped to death herself, police said.

"He loved her," said Debbie Dixon, 19, Fred's sister. "He couldn't see no one but her.... She would tell him all her problems and he'd tell her that she'd find a way."

Melinda's mother-in-law, Lillie Dixon, said she was a troubled young woman who had tried suicide last year and had tried to starve her children this August.

"She used to tell me that if everything got to the point where it was too hard, she would kill herself and the kids," Debbie said. "She used to do strange things. She would call to my brother, like he was down in the cellar or something, when he was really in Korea.

"She had these pictures of my brother that she wouldn't let anyone touch. She'd take them out at nighttime and talk to them."

Dixon had left his wife in the care of his family in North Philadelphia when he joined the Army and was sent to Korea 11 months ago.

After the starvation incident, he took emergency leave and was awarded custody of the children by court order. But his family said he didn't take the children from their mother because he thought it might provoke her to suicide.

On Saturday, Melinda, 21, dressed 9-month-old Hazel and 2-year-old Frederick for an outing.

"She had the children all dressed when she left the house," said Mrs. Dixon's stepfather, Walter Cannon. "She didn't tell us where she was going."

Police said they were alerted by telephone callers who said a woman was going to jump from the South Street Bridge. Passersby said they had tried to prevent Mrs. Dixon from jumping.

Persons on the bridge attracted the attention of a fireboat, which was on a training maneuver, after Mrs. Dixon had jumped.

The fireboat recovered the children's bodies. Their mother's body was found by rescue crews several hours later.

Judge Ammer Sentences Man To Jail

Sherman E. Ross Jr., 18, 10380 Borror Road, Orient, was sentenced to concurrent terms in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men this morning by Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

Ross was sentenced to six months to five years concurrent terms after he pled guilty to the June 23 charge of sale of marijuana and the July 12 charge of trafficking in marijuana.

The sentence will begin Oct. 11.

Judge Ammer also ordered a post-sentence report on the case.

James Robinson, Louisville, Ky., pled guilty to menacing stemming from his arrest Aug. 9 during an incident at the Kroger Store.

Robinson was sentenced to 30 days in the Pickaway County Jail, with credit for time spent, and fined $250.

Judge Ammer suspended the fine on the condition Robinson stay out of Pickaway County.

Judge Ammer also ordered a presentence report on Terry F. Lambert, 18, 10937 Mattville Road, Orient, who pled guilty to a charge of sale of marijuana.

Lambert was arrested June 24.

Four People Injured In Crash

Four people suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident 1:55 p.m. Sunday on Route 22, west of the Route 56 intersection.

The accident occurred when Patricia A. Griffith, 28, 214 W. Ohio St., stopped in traffic to make a left turn into the A & W Trailer Court, according to a report at the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The car directly behind her used the right side berm to pass, but another vehicle, driven by Paul A. Finney, 49, Washington C.H., skidded into the rear of her car.

Finney was charged with failing to maintain assured clear distance.

Both drivers and their passengers were treated at Berger Hospital's emergency room for minor injuries and released.

Ms. Griffith suffered a neck and back iunjury, Pui Chun Griffith, 28, A & W Trailer Court, suffered contusions to the head, Finney suffered a contusion to his right chest, and Mildred L. Finney suffered a contusion to her left knee.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market, coming off its worst weekly showing of the year, declined a bit more today in quiet trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped a fraction in early trading, and losers took a small lead over gainers in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers were expecting slow trading activity through the day because of the observance of the Jewish holiday Yom Kippur.

They noted a general atmosphere of wariness following the sharp slide in stock prices last week.

Today's early volume leaders included Delta Airlines, down ⅛ at 40½; Champion International, off ⅛ at 24¼, and Citicorp, up ⅛ at 30½.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 10.30 to 979.89, stretching its decline for the week to 29.52 points.

It was the biggest weekly drop for the average since early December last year.

Losers outnumbered gainers by better than a 2-1 margin in the daily tally of NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index gave up .53 to 55.70.

Big Board volume came to 20.62 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .39 at 101.56.

Taxes Take Biggest Bite From Paycheck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although food, fuel or medical costs get most attention when the government reports on consumer prices, the fastest-growing bite out of the average worker's paycheck comes from taxes.

The Labor Department says an average worker in private industry, supporting a family of four, now pays 23.4 per cent more in federal tax deductions than he did 12 months ago.

The over-all increase in consumer prices in the last year was 5.6 per cent. Transportation services, with a 15.5 per cent increase, are up the most of any single category in the price index. Food is up 2.4 per cent, fuel oil and coal are up 5.8 per cent and medical care services are up 9.7 per cent.

If price increases alone were the only element nibbling at that worker's budget, he or she would be better off than last year because gross pay was $178 in August, up 6.6. per cent or $11 a week from the previous August. This pay hike should have been enough to keep ahead of inflation.

But under the federal income tax system the more money you earn, the bigger the percentage of your income the government claims in taxes.

Thus, in August last year, that worker was paying $16 a week, or 9.6 per cent of gross pay, for Social Security and federal income taxes. This year, the August federal tax deductions amounted to $20 a week, or 11.2 per cent of total pay.

The result is that the buying power of the average worker's take-home pay is down threetenths of 1 per cent in that time, in sharp contrast to the 4 per cent increase registered a year earlier with the help of the antirecession tax cuts.

The computations don't account for state income taxes, which ate up almost 2 per cent of the average wage-earner's total pay last year, according to the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

That percentage was unchanged from 1974 but up from one-third of 1 per cent in 1953. State and federal sales and excise taxes are included in the prices computed by the Labor Department and thus plugged directly into the inflation rate.

President Ford and challenger Jimmy Carter have both promised some tax relief, at least for what they consider lower and moderate income people. The Joint Economic Committee of Congress said last weekend it appears that another stimulative tax cut might be in order.

Oren Staley Blasts Butz

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A national farm leader has called for the immediate dismissal of U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz for alleged racial slurs attributed to him.

"Only Butz could make a statement like that," said Oren Lee Staley, president of the National Farmers Organization.

Staley said at a news conference here Saturday that Butz's statements, quoted in two magazines, are "reflective of the cynical attitude he has toward people. He's been known to make remarks before, only this time he got caught."

In his comment, as quoted by Rolling Stone and New Times magazines, Butz referred to blacks as "coloreds" and characterized them in a derogatory manner.

A Page Of Opinion

Research Impact

If there is a single field of endeavor which guarantees conditions and commodities will be at least somewhat different tomorrow than they are today, it is research. Researchers come in all persuasions and interests. It would be difficult to find a single industry in which their influence is not felt.

In crime prevention, for instance, consider this: The chairman of the Washington University School of Medicine's psychiatry department reports a 17-year study he has conducted convinces him that a large majority of persons who commit felonies show definite tendencies toward criminal conduct early in life. There is some evidence to indicate the predisposition toward crime could be inherited.

"In view of the generally pessimistic picture deriving from any review of the results of current prison and parole practices," adds Dr. Samuel B. Guze, "it would appear that the best hope for the future might lie in the direction of early recognition and vigorous efforts at prevention."

If that view becomes generally accepted, crime prevention could be in for a drastic change, thanks to research.

Only Campaign

By JIM BISHOP

Politicans great and small told me that I would never understand politics until I ran for office. At times, I am simpleminded. I believe people. So I ran - or walked - for office.

I lived in Bergen County, New Jersey. I ran for freeholder. The freeholders run the county. The Republicans ran Bergen like a private orphanage. They spurned my services. The Democrats, who hadn't won anything since they staged a crooked church raffle, put me on their ticket.

We had meetings. Los of meetings. Most of the guys were pretty good three-fisted drinkers. We plotted. And schemed. And addressed big rallies in neighborhood cellars.

We defied the bosses. Not ours. Theirs. We urged the people to give good government back to the people - us. In September, Boss Frank Hague asked me to visit him in Jersey city. It was more politics. Bigger politics.

He had been beaten in his county by another Democrat, a small smiler who enjoyed standing on street corners clinking a couple of dollars in quarters from one hand to the other. He was John V. Kenny.

Hague had poached-egg eyes and a gray fedora. He wanted one last hurrah. He was running someone for governor of New Jersey. The man was a fat chicken farmer, state Senator Elmer Wene. If Hague's man could be elected, Frankie boy would be back in business as boss of the state.

Mr. Hague wanted me to guide his fat nominee around the state, accompanied by three gangsterish looking limousines full of reporters. We also had another car with the Wene Quartet. They opened rallies with "Dear Old Pal" and "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

I took the job. The senator drank milk all day. It required time to find that it was laced with Scotch. Sometimes it laced him up the mouth. He told women voters of Gloucester: "People are the kind of voters we need, and if we're not fair to the citizens then we're not fair to the public either."

I learned politics. It was a seven-week crash course. I worked with the chicken farmer, trying to teach him how to speak. On weekends I ran home and ran for county freeholder.

It's a deadly diet. I was full of fried chicken and whispered advice. Hague asked me to ask his deadly enemy, John Kenny, how the people of Hudson County would vote. On the surface it appeared that there were more Democrats than catholics.

Politics is shaking hands and lying. At one point, when Wene was accused of not having a farm program, the fat man yanked a sheet of paper from his pocket and read his opponent's program.

I asked Kenny what he planned to do for the Democratic Party. "The senator will leave here," he said, jiggling his quarters, "with 125,000 votes." If true, Wene would run away with the election.

My wife told me that I was about to be massacred in my county because I wasn't there to campaign. In truth I didn't know how to campaign. I hurried from rally to rally with the state senator. The milk was going down the hatch in gallons. Women said, "Ah, there's a good man."

I began to hope the bum would lose. He did. He won in most of the counties but blew the election in Kenny's bailiwick. In the morning I went to a cutlery store and bought a carving knife and a bottle of ketchup. I poured the ketchup on the knife and sent it to Kenny.

"Dear John," I wrote, "I just yanked this from the senator's back. You may need it in the next election."

Then I went home. I had to find out how I made out in the race for freeholder. I lost that too. The Republican Party snowed me 120,000 votes to 62,000. I had learned all I wanted to know about local and state politics. This is what converted me to be the lovely cynic I am today.

And yet, I must concede that the G.O.P. had a sense of humor. Their bosses looked down the ballot and found one office which had no pay. It was blank. No one wanted it.

The word was passed. "Bring a pencil and write the name of Jim Bishop on the bottom line." It was done.

As the sole contender, I was duly elected coroner . . .

Cannibal Giants Tale Mythological?

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — Times are tough for the lengendary red-haired cannibal giants whose alleged existence here centuries ago has been debated for nearly 100 years.

Scientists have said there's no proof the "giants" first described in old Indian tales were cannibals. Chemical staining by earth after burial was advanced as a likely reason why mummified remains have red hair instead of black like most Indians in the area.

Now a new study under way at the University of Nevada indicates the "giants" were about six feet tall, and not up to 10 feet tall as had been claimed.

What's left is evidence of a tribe separate from principal tribes whose Paiute descendants live here — perhaps a wandering, more aggressive but outnumbered band finally hunted down and killed or chased off.

Anthropologists say the story, while somewhat tamer, is still fascinating. But they concede the old myth has more appeal and, no matter what they say, will probably persist.

Don Tuohy, curator of anthropology at Nevada State Museum, says he's confident the "giant" myth is about to be debunked. He asked for the latest study after a bundle of "giant" bones were found in a longoverlooked cabinet at the Nevada Historical Society building in Reno.

But Tuohy says the old tale will probably live on.

Dr. Sheilagh Brooks, chairwoman of the anthropology department at UN-Las Vegas, is now analyzing the bones which apparently came from the Lovelock Cave, a nearby treasure trove for scientists trying to reconstruct Nevada's early history.

Dr. Brooks says her initial investigation shows some of the bones were from cows, not giants. The human bones appear to be remains of Indians "maybe six feet tall — big, but not that big," she says.

The myth was written down in 1883 by Sarah Winnemucca Hopkins, daughter of a Piaute Indian chief. She told of a strange, red-haired tribe of cannibals her ancestors drove into a cave and suffocated by lighting a fire at its entrance.

She said the "people eaters" were so fierce they would leap into the air, snatch arrows whizzing over their heads, and shoot them back at the Piaute attackers.

John T. Reid, a Lovelock mining engineer, said Indians took him to the cave in 1886 and told him the same tale. But when he entered the cave he found nothing but tons of bat guano.

Reid was unsuccessful in getting an archeological dig started immediately. But miners realizing the value of guano as fertilizer started hauling it out in 1911. They promptly turned up bones, baskets, weapons, tools, duck decoys, various other artifacts and what they described as a 6-foot-6 red-haired mummy.

That spurred the first archeological dig in 1912. A second dig took place in 1924. Thousands of artifacts and about 60 average-height mummies were recovered. More studies followed, including radio-carbon dating which showed the cave was occupied from about 2,000 BC to about 900 AD.

Ohio Pay Up 8 Per Cent In Past Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio production worker payrolls for August were up 8 per cent over payrolls for the same month in 1975, the Ohio State University Center for Business and Economic research reported.

The OSU report said payroll figures for the first eight months of 1976 showed a 10 per cent rise compared with the same period a year ago.

Payrolls for Ohio rubber producers, hit by lengthy strikes against the industry's Big Four, declined 26 per cent in August from August 1975, the center said.

Mines and quarries payrolls declined 31 per cent in the August-to-August period.

The state's production worker employment declined fractionally from August-to-August and showed a slight increase for the first eight months of 1976 as compared with the same period in 1975.

Production man-hours worked in firms across the state were 2 per cent higher in the August-to-August comparison and also 2 per cent higher for the first eight months.

Ohio manufacturing groups showing the largest August-to-August increase in production payrolls were metal products firms, up 27 per cent, and vehicles up 19 per cent.

Vehicle manufacturers led all other industrial groups in the comparison of payrolls for the first eight months of 1976 over the same period in 1975 with a 24 per cent increase.

Fort Ancient is situated on the high bluffs of the Little Miami River in Warren County. It was built by a prehistoric Indian tribe, supposedly the Moundbuilders. It is one of the largest prehistoric forts in America and is visited by thousands of people from all parts of the world. — AP

LAFF - A - DAY

"When I'd tell people my age, they'd always say, 'You sure don't look it'... now when I tell them my age they don't say anything!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I awoke one day and was so hoarse I could barely speak. I hadn't been overusing my voice particularly, though I do teach small children. The doctor found that I had a paralysis of one of my vocal cords. He couldn't explain why. I'm still hoarse after eight months.

Miss P. N., Calif.

Dear Miss N.:

The two vocal cords that lie in the voice box, or larynx, are strands of muscle tissue about one inch long. These come together when one is speaking. They separate when one breathes. It is almost impossible to speak and breathe at the same time. Two different sets of nerves perform these two functions.

There are two types of paralysis of the vocal cords. One is the inability of the cords to come together and make sounds. The other is the inability to separate.

Since there are so many causes of paralysis of the vocal cords, each must be eliminated step-by-step in order to track down the offending one.

In some instances, problems in the esophagus and even an enlargeed auricle of the heart may press on the nerve that controls the vocal cords.

Hoarseness is caused by any one of the types of paralysis of the vocal cords. Hoarseness is the body's cry, pleading that the reason be thoroughly investigated. Hoarseness that lasts for more than two weeks should be studied to find and remove the cause.

Have you been back to your doctor during these eight months? X-ray studies of the larynx and direct examination of the larynx with an instrument known as the laryngoscope, and a variety of other tests, may shed new light on the cause of your problem.

Is surgery always necessary for children who are born with a dislocated hip? If so, what is the best age for the operation? Our son is now six weeks old. The condition was just discovered.

Mrs. D. A., S. C.

Dear Mrs. A.:

There is no universal rule that states whether surgery or more conservative treatment should be used for the handling of congenital dislocations of the hip.

This birth defect, which occurs about six times more frequently in females than in males, has no known cause. Heredity is sometimes suspected.

The nature and the extent of the bony malformation determine whether a child should be treated surgically, or by correction with a cast alone.

Congenitally dislocated hips once presented a far greater problem than they do at the present time. Surgical advances in the last 15 years have been spectacular.

UMW Lays Out Plans For Future

CINCINNATI (AP)—Delegates to the United Mine Workers convention have gone home after instructing their contract negotiators to get them the right-to-strike, an abbreviated work week and a full-time safety committeeman on each shift.

The miners also voted in favor of centralizing the union's power and they gave President Arnold Miller unequivocal authority to appoint and direct UMW organizers, field workers, safety inspectors and members of COMPAC—the union's political arm.

Miller left the convention claiming he had whipped his foes on the UMW International Executive Board.

"I wish the entire executive board was here," he said after Saturday's closing session. "I'd tell 'em all, 'I whupped yuh.'

The white-haired UMW chief went into the convention saying he needed more authority to carry out his programs, which he said had been stymied repeatedly by the executive board. He weathered some early setbacks and eventually got most of what he wanted.

The 1,800 convention delegates voted against him when they decided to move the union's next election back from November to June of 1977. They were widely divided on most issues but showed a solid front on the right-to-strike.

They passed a resolution calling for the next contract— which will be negotiated late next year—to include a provision whereby locals can legally strike to settle their local disputes. The current contract stipulates that grievances must be settled by arbitration, a process which many members of the rank and file feel is too slow and ponderous.

The delegates called for improved health and pension benefits. They also instructed their negotiators to seek a five-day work week and a six-hour day for inside miners and a five-hour, 15-minute day for outside workers and strip miners.

The delegates further called for an end to compulsory overtime, standard starting times for each shift and for significant "across-the-board" wage increases.

Coffee Crop Up Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Foreign Agricultural Service has revised its estimate of the 1976-77 world coffee crop upward by 1.6 million bags to a total production of 62.1 million, with 44.7 million available for the world market. That still would be the smallest crop in six years.

The estimate was increased because of better prospects in Mexico and Africa, but Brazil's crop is still pegged at 9.5 million bags, about 40 per cent of last season's harvest. Three years of severe July frost in Brazil have been largely responsible for the supply drops that have meant soaring coffee prices for U.S. consumers.

FAS estimates that consumers worldwide will drink 6 per cent less coffee in the coming year because of the high prices and the price boosts to come.

Historians say that while evidence is scanty the conclusion is justified that the Albany English fur trader Arnout Viele went down the Ohio River only 23 years after La Salle made his voyage of discovery in 1669. — AP

Silo Drainage Dangers Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Wildlife reminds farmers that a review of pollution-caused fish kills in rural areas indicates they often are caused by silo drainage into streams.

Wildlife chief Dale Haney recommends caution and care. "Agricultural polluters will be held responsible for damage to wildlife resources of our state," he said.

Farmers now filling the silos for winter feed storage are urged to use caution as silo liquors both use up ozygen necessary for fish and other aquatic life. Some also may be poisonous.

The division recommends storing forage in the silo at the proper moisture content to curtail drainage from the silo. Old liquors should be pumped out and disposed of.

Silo liquors should be spread on the land surface above the flood plain of the stream so the liquid will soak into the soil.

Asbury Theological Seminary an interdenominational graduate school of theology, offers the master of arts in religion, the master of divinity, and the Doctor of Ministry-degrees. The 590 students enrolled this semester represent 256 colleges and universities, more than 40 states and the District of Columbia, 13 foreign countries, and 34 church denominations.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Church officials, investigating one of its congregations, decided that the deacon had been filching money from the membership. These findings they published in a church bulletin.

Further inquiry, however, showed they were wrong. The deacon thereupon filed suit against the officials for defamation of his character.

At the trial, the defendants protested:

"We admit we made a mistake. But it was an honest mistake, motivated by the best of intentions—the kind of mistake anyone might have made."

The court decided this was an adequate defense and turned down the deacon's claim. The court said the law recognizes a "qualified privilege" to make false statements if the intentions are honest and the mistake is reasonable.

Generally speaking, this privilege extends to all communications within an organization about matters of mutual concern. Intended to encourage freedom of discussion, it applies not only to churches but also to such organizations as labor unions, educational associations, and lodges.

However, the privilege does not reach beyond the range of legitimate group interests. For example:

During a church picnic, one man confided to another that a certain young woman in the congregation was guilty of immoral behavior. This story (also untrue) got back to the young woman, who sued her detractor for defamation.

In his defense the man invoked the doctrine of qualified privilege, pointing out that both she and he were members of the same church.

But the court said there was no such privilege in this situation. Holding the defendant liable, the court reminded him that the plaintiff's personal conduct had not become a matter of church concern.

Pollution Claims Made By State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Claims totaling $3,300 in damages to wildlife as a result of pollution in Ohio streams have been sent to three companies and a county government by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Norfolk and Western Railway of Roanoke, Va., was billed $382.10 by the division of wildlife for polluting a tributary of the East Fork of the Little Miami River in Clermont County after a train derailment.

Stoller Farms, Inc. of Latty in Paulding County was billed $645.54 for oil pollution of a tributary of Blue Creek in Paulding County; and Wyandot Blacktop Co. of Marion was billed $1,599 for polluting Rock Swale Ditch in Marion County.

Clermont County commissioners in Batavia were billed $673 for sewage station pollution of Shayler Run in Clermont County.

See Effective Ford Campaign In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford's Ohio campaign organization isn't flush with money like the Nixon campaign four years ago, but it is involving more Ohioans and could be just as effective, Republicans say.

"We have the momentum going for us," says Keith McNamara, the Columbus lawyer who serves as full time chairman of the Ohio President Ford Committee.

He said because of a limited budget—about $100,000 compared to $800,000 in 1972—the effort this year has been intertwined with local election contests with the 88 county GOP committees directly involved in voter registration, telephone "get out the vote" programs, distributing literature, and other efforts.

During the Nixon campaign, many party workers who were brushed aside by the old Committee to Re-Elect the President are now actively involved in an apparently smooth running state operation.

McNamara said the $100,000 is exclusive of media efforts on behalf of the President which will be handled out of Washington.

Plans call for the expenditure nationwide of about $10 million for radio, television, and newspaper ads, he said, but decisions on how much of it will be spent in Ohio are yet to be made.

The state also doesn't have to pay for printed material which Washington supplies or for travel in Ohio of the President, vice presidential candidate Robert Dole or any of their families or advocates, McNamara said.

Most of the funds allocated to Ohio are paying the salaries of McNamara and about eight staff people, their travel expenses, and for the distribution of material and a network of local headquarters.

The organization has only five "storefront" offices around the state, compared to the Nixon campaign which used more than 200.

But McNamara said the help from local candidates and committees is taking up the slack, especially with forays already made into the state by Mrs. Ford, Dole, Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson, Treasury Secretary William Simon and others.

Dole is being counted on in particular to get out into the hustings where McNamara concedes some farmers still could be angry at the President for the 1975 embargo on grain sales overseas.

He doesn't believe it is "a significant problem. He said, "There may be some (still mad), but I think a lot of them probably vented their feelings in the primary and will support the President."

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan captured 45 per cent of the vote in Ohio's Republican primary, much of it from the same rural Republican strongholds Dole plans to work between now and Nov. 2. He already has made one big swing through farming areas of southwest Ohio.

McNamara said Dole is being especially helpful because he "is from Kansas, a big farm state, and the farmers relate to him."

The Ohio chairman, a former long time member of the Ohio House, indicated he expects help from Reagan, too. The Californian already has scheduled a stop in southwest Ohio, where he ran strong, as part of a national tour to help the President and local candidates.

McNamara said he has "no assurances" as to when the President will come to Ohio to campaign personally. He has requested that Ford travel by motorcade through northern Ohio on one day and address a lunch hour crowd at the statehouse on another.

Ford drew enthusiastic crowds in the primary with a south-to-north motorcade through the western tier of counties, and outside the Capitol, where he enumerated what he called the accomplishments of his administration and swapped football stories with Ohio State football Coach Woody Hayes, an avid supporter.

McNamara said Republicans in Ohio this year are making special appeals to senior citizens—"I prefer to call them experienced voters"—as well as young people.

In what may be a new twist—at least on a big scale—they are visiting nursing homes as part of an effort to win the votes of Ohioans who may not have voted in the past because they couldn't get to the polls.

A new state law permits Ohioans 65 and over to vote absentee ballots as a matter of preference, McNamara pointed out. He said he is not sure how many have been reached. All told, the 65-and-over contingent comprises about 11 per cent of Ohio's population of more than 11 million, he said.

Bob Cupp, a recent graduate of Ohio Northern University at Ada and a native of Allen County, heads the organization's drive to establish Ford groups on Ohio's university campuses. McNamara said the effort has been "tremendously successful" and predicted many of the state's young adults will support the president.

He said the experienced voter group appears especially productive for the president, since "they all are concerned about inflation which hits them the hardest. They know the big government things (Democratic candidate) Jimmy Carter is talking about would really fan inflation."

Ett-Archer Wedding Vows Exchanged In Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church

MR. AND MRS. KEVIN DOUGLAS ARCHER

The wedding of Miss Glenna Grace Ett and Mr. Kevin Douglas Archer was an event of 2:30 p.m., September 11, at Hedges Chapel United Methodist Church of Ashville. The Rev. Starling Morrow officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ett of Ashville and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Archer of Stoutsville.

Altar vases held white daisies, blue and lavender carnations, blue bachelor buttons, baby's breath and greenery. A similar arrangement was placed on the organ.

The spiral candelabra, which flanked the altar, were lighted by Mr. Wilson Ett and Mr. Allen Ett, brothers of the bride. Hurricane lamps lined the aisle.

Preceding the ceremony, Mr. Everett Mehrley, organist, presented a program of music which included "Close To You," "Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Wedding Song," "For All We Know," and "Where'er You Walk." Vocal selections by Miss Linda White, "Love" and "Our Wedding Song," were original compositions. Miss White accompanied herself on the autoharp. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung during the ceremony while the couple lighted the unity candle and knelt at the altar.

As the bridal attendents came up the aisle, the wedding guests sang, "Oh Perfect Love," and then stood for the bride during the traditional "Bridal Chorus."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her father and mother, was attired in a gown of imported chantilly lace and silk organza over slipper bridal satin. The bodice of lace, reembroidered with pearls and crystals, featured a high neckline and sheer yoke edged in pleated organza and lace. Self covered buttons extended down the back of the dress and cuffs. The double bishop sleeves were accented with an applique of Swiss lace and long tapered cuffs. The flared skirt with scattered appliques of chantilly lace flowed gracefully into a cathedral train edged in lace. A headpiece of lace and satin held the full length detachable veil of English illusion. Her only jewelry, a gold locket, which belonged to the bride's great grandmother Ett, was carried in the bridal bouquet. She also carried a white handkerchief, which belonged to her great-grandmother Zwayer. The bride carried a nosegay of white roses, blue bachelor buttons, blue and lavender carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

Mrs. Wilson Ett of Ashville served her sister-in-law as matron of honor. Her floor length gown of blue and lavender print voile over blue was styled with an empire waist and blue streamers, short puffed sleeves, and rounded neck. She carried a hurricane lamp with white daisies, blue bachelor buttons, baby's breath and greenery and wore a blue picture hat with blue streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Penny Oldaker of Circleville. Bridesmaids were Miss Janet Zwayer of Groveport, cousin of the bride, and Miss Lori Archer of Stoutsville, sister of the groom. Their floor length dresses, styled as that of the honor attendent, were blue and lavender print voile over lavender. They carried hurricane lamps identical to the honor attendent and wore lavender picture hats with lavender streamers. The attendents all wore fisher of men cross necklaces, gifts of the bride.

The bride's gown and those of the attendents were made by Mrs. Royce Woolever, a friend of the bride.

The flower girl, Miss Heidi Hedges, wore a dress identical to that of the matron of honor. She wore a ring of flowers in her hair and carried a lavender basket of white rose petals, which she scattered as she walked up the aisle.

Master Heath Archer of Ashville, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow edged in lace with white satin streamers.

Performing the duties of best man for his brother was Mr. Tony Archer of Ashville. Serving as ushers were Mr. Ed Archer and Mr. Keith Archer of Ashville and Mr. Rodney Archer of Stoutsville, brothers of the bridegroom.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. The table was covered with a white cloth and blue net, caught up by blue and lavender ribbons and white daisies. It held a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with blue and white roses with a fountain spraying blue water and surrounded by greenery at the base. The cake was topped with the traditional bride and groom figures. Hostesses were Miss Patty Derflinger and Miss Valerie Houser, Ashville, and Miss Jo Anne Wright of Lockbourne. Miss Taundra VanPelt, a hostess, also presided at the guest book.

The bride's mother chose a floor length dress of pink chiffon and lace over taffeta with chiffon sleeves and lace cuffs. The groom's mother wore a floor length dress of lavender crepe with long tapered lace sleeves and wide ruffles at V-neckline and cuffs. Both mothers carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

The bride's toss-away bouquet was made of white carnations with blue streamers. As the newlyweds left the church, they were showered with rice.

Honored guests at the wedding were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Zwayer of Goveport, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ett of Ashville, and the grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Clyle Martin.

The bride graduated from Teays Valley High School and is currently employed by Bob McDorman Chevrolet of Canal Winchester. Mr. Archer graduated from Teays Valley High School and Mid West Horseshoeing School in Illinois.

As the couple left for a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a rose gabardine pant suit with print blouse. The couple will reside at Route 1 Stoutsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Archer hosted the rehearsal dinner on the night preceding the wedding at the Wardell Party Home of Circleville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Circleville, Canal Winchester, Stoutsville, Groveport, Amanda and Commercial Point.

The bride was feted with showers given by Miss Penny Shields, Mrs. Alice Woolever, Vicki, Bev, Marcy and Lori Archer; Mrs. Diana Ett, Miss Penny Oldaker, and Mrs. Dorothy Cormany.

Bazaar-Booth Plans Made By Women's Society

Women's Society of Emmett Chapel Church made plans for its annual bazaar and the Pumpkin Show booth. Nancy Reeves presided over the business meeting attended by 20 members recently in the Parish House.

Jo Ann Bauer led devotions using as scripture II Kings 4:8 through 11. She talked of the great women in the Bible and how many were never named. She said ladies could be great women in their own homes and lives.

Nominated and accepted as officers for the 1977 year are: Tacie Dumm, president; Anita Conkel, vice-president; Genevra Ullman, secretary, and Becky Timmons, treasurer.

It was decided to have a booth at the Pumpkin Show by Ullman's Florist Shop. There will be a variety of food served. Hickory nut, Italian Creme and white chocolate cakes will be featured along with tenderloin sandwiches.

The annual bazaar will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Nov. 20, at the church. All members were encouraged to make articles to sell.

Tacie Dumm used scripture from 1st Corinthians 12:12 through 27. She said that all members have to work together as one body of Christ. She told of many ways to help others such as in the rest home and working with the handicapped. She closed the meeting with prayer.

The hostesses, Nancy Reeves, Pat Wellman and Janice Rittinger served refreshments.

Pumpkin Show Information For Pies, Baked Goods

Due to the changes in addresses this year and the high cost of postage pre-entry sheets for the Pumpkin Pie Contest and the Baked Goods Department of Pumpin Show will not be sent by mail.

They may be obtained at the Savings, First, Second and Third National Banks, Linn's Hallmark Gallery, Burton's Jewelry in Circleville, and the Ashville and Citizens Banks in Ashville.

Pre-entries may be made by contacting Mrs. Michael McGinnis 474-6982, Mrs. Ben Temple 474-5443, Mrs. Jean Crider 474-5719 or Mrs. Dorothy Shadley 474-5248.

Friends Of The Library Entertained By Mrs. West

CALICO QUILT — Shown with the calico and muslin quilt made by her mother is Mrs. O. C. West of 1235 S. Court St. The quilt to be raffled to raise funds for Friends of the Library was displayed during a tea Wednesday at the home of Mrs. West for members and their guests.

Approximately 80 Friends of the Library and their guests were entertained Wednesday for tea at the home of Mrs. O. C. West, chairman of the organization. During afternoon calling hours, Mrs. Emerson Spicer and Mrs. Kermit Dountz presided at the beautifully appointed tea table. In the evening, Mrs. George Barnes and Mrs. James G. Scott served the guests.

On display during the party was the lovely old quilt donated by Mrs. West to the Friends. Mrs. Richard Simkins and Mrs. Paul Teegardin are in charge of the sale of the raffle tickets for the quilt, which will be given to the winning ticket holder at a drawing on December 15. The beautifully stitched 90x76 quilt was made by Mrs. West's mother, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lutz Dumm and is done in the popular Fool's Puzzle pattern. The material is watermelon calico on a white background.

Interst in old quilts has become keen during the last few years for collectors have realized that in the patterns, fabrics and handwork of these quilts, area history can be traced. Quilting parties vied with "house raisings" as popular social events in the early days. Young girls prepared far in advance the quilts for the homes they would have when they married.

The opportunity to own such a unique piece of Ohioana made ticket sales brisk at the tea. Many members of the Friends took a block of tickets to sell and Mrs. Teegardin announced that the quilt will be on display during the fall at the Gallery on West Main Street, with tickets available at several other downtown locations also.

Members were advised that the annual meeting of the Friends of the Library will be held 2 p.m. Nov. 1, at the Pickaway County Historical Society.

Voting Machine Used For Elections

ELECTION Machine — Clara Miller demonstrates the voting machine used to elect class officers. Lawrence Thornton helped with the voting operations.

By CLARA MILLER

Logan Elm High School has "pulled the switches" on their class officers. Students in each class voted on Sept. 17 and Sept. 20 for who they wanted to run their class.

The results of the election are: Seniors - President Mike Davis; Vice President Tom Fouch, Sergeant of Arms Randy Watkins, Secretary Tammy Valentine and Treasurer Robin Manson.

Juniors - President Jerry Scanlan, Vice President Tony Crist, Sergeant of Arms Lynn Strehele, Secretary Cathy Conrad and Treasurer Jeff McKay.

Sophomores - President Terry Wright, Vice President John LaFontaine, Sergeant of Arms Beth Spangler, Secretary Kim Thurston and Treasurer Diane Rhoads.

Freshman - President Todd Baker, Vice President Eric Fogler, Sergeant of Arms Phil Evans, Secretary Mindy Poling and Treasurer Tammy Young.

By the looks of this, Logan Elm High School is in very good hands. We are looking forward to a great year in all classes.

Along with the officers we chose our Miss Pumpkin Show candidates: Senior, Annette Burns and Junior, Cindy Gifford.

Exchange Student Notes Difference In Teachers

YVO PEETERS

By JOAN GOODE

The new exchange student you've seen roaming the halls of Logan Elm is Yvo Peeters of Belgium. Yvo is 18-years-old and is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Lands.

One of the main differences that he notices about the school are the teachers. "Teachers here are strict during class but friendly after class. In Belgium, teachers are your friends during and after."

Some of his hobbies and likes are reading, writing about personal experiences and listening to music. He especially likes to listen to 'Little Art Music' (which is special music from Belgium). And last, but certainly not least, is Wendy's hamburgers.

"I would like to thank all the people at Logan Elm for treating me like an American, not treating me special", said Yvo.

We all extend a warm welcome to Yvo. And hope that his stay will be fun and full of new adventures.

Deficiency May Cause Leaf Fall

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Fall is with us and a lot of trees are beginning to change their colors.

But if Red Maple trees are turning yellow or dropping their leaves, it could indicate a manganese deficiency, according to two horticulturists for the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

Scientists Eldon Smith and Cynthia Mitchell said the problems are most prevalent in alkaline soil—those with a pH above 6.5.

Smith warned that treating maples with fertilizers containing iron rather than manganese will cause the symptoms to become even more severe because iron further suppresses the tree's ability to take up manganese.

The scientists have found that implanting manganese citrate capsules in the trunks of the affected trees and use of two forms of manganese sulfate will increase the chlorophyll content of the leaves, improving their green color.

Mitchell adds that while some of these manganese substances are still being developed, manganese sulfate is on the market in capsule form as Mn Medicaps.

Junior High Cheerleaders Showed Spirit

By MICHELE EBERT

The 1976-77 cheerleaders for McDowell Exchange School and Logan Elm's Freshman Class have been picked. After a week of hard work, the junior high try-outs were held Sept. 17 and the freshmen on Nov. 21.

The seventh graders chosen were: Debbie Davis, Susan Knece, Shawn Kuhn, Lori Pritchard, Beth Reichelderfer, and Robin Strawser, alternates were Tina Collins and Lavona Weaver.

Girls cheering for two years in the 8th grade are Janet Burns, Julie Goode, Leah Seimer, Diane Wilamowski, and Tammy Wooten, and first year, Robin Kohn, alternates, Dee Sare and Rhonda Thurston.

Cheerleaders representing the freshman class are third year, Debbie Disbennett and Jona Duvall, second year, Tracy Weffler, alternates Colleen Gumm and Kim Nichols.

All the girls showed a lot of spirit and are expected to do a great job.

Marching Band Prepares Show For Zanesville

By TERRY HAMPTON

The Logan Elm High School Marching Band will perform at Zanesville Bonanza of Bands, Oct. 2. The band will open the show with the theme song from "2001 Space Odessey", followed by "Fly Robin Fly" in which the flags have an excellent routine. Eric Maxson plays a solo in the next song which is "Feelings", the majorettes also have red streamers on the ends of their batons to add feeling to "Feelings".

The band rouses the crowd to their feet as they play "Prepare Ye", from the motion picture "Godspell," as they go down the field away from the audience, the band surprises the crowd and turns around to blast the final cords.

Come and root the band and Mr. Price to a fine season.

Double Duty Given To New Teacher

BUTCH KOBEL

By JODY FELDMAN

This year Logan Elm welcomes a new staff member who is doing double duty. Butch Kobel is the high school's new guidance counselor and the boys' varsity basketball coach.

When asked as to what he'd like to accomplish this year he commented, "to operate a guidance program that is used by the students and helpful to them." Also "a group guidance program that aids in distributing information and keeping the students informed as to what's happening."

On the subject of basketball he hopes to "develop a successful program where the meaning of success is not based on winning or losing, but all members giving 100 per cent and then the winning will take care of itself."

Kobel, formerly from Mansfield Madison High school, added that "the attitude is very good in comparison to the city schools." He also liked "the friendliness of the students" and the "rural atmosphere."

2 Logan Elm Students Recognized By National Merit

NATIONAL MERIT STUDENTS — Allen Strous, left, has received a letter for being a commended student. Chris Blubaugh has been named a semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program, and will take the final tests in the spring.

By ALLEN STROUS

Principal Dow West has announced that Allen Strous has been named a Commended Student in the Merit Program by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). West also announced that Chris Blubaugh has been named a National Merit Semifinalist.

Allen is among 35,000 commended students nationwide who are being recognized for their outstanding performance on the 1975 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMSQT).

Chris is among 15,000 seniors which have been named semifinalists in the 1977 National Merit Scholarship Program.

We would like to extend our congratulations to both of these young men.

Student Council Homecoming Plans Are Complete

By TONY CRIST

Student Council president John Scanlan called a meeting of all Student Council Representatives to decide on the idea of having a Disc Jockey from the WCOL Radio Broadcasting Station for the Homecoming Dance.

It was decided to invite Chuck "Rock 'N Roll" Martin for the Oct. 9 event. Martin will bring albums and T-shirts to give away during the dance.

If Martin is not free for the occasion then Harry Valentine will be his replacement. One of the men will bring their own unit consisting of two speakers, two turntables and all the records you can think of. Be there for this great and new Homecoming Dance.

Rain Drifts Eastward From Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers and thunderstorms continued to drift eastward out of the northern half of the Great Plains and into the Mississippi Valley early today.

Other showers were found in the eastern half of Colorado, and a few showers and thundershowers were reported in northern New Mexico. Showers extended from the New Jersey coast into Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Fog formed over the lower Great Lakes, and extended into Ohio and southeast Michigan. Cloudiness was reported in the Carolinas, the southern Plains, the Rockies and the Pacific Northwest. Elsewhere, clear skies are the rule.

A freeze warning was in effect over southeast Idaho with a frost warning in the southwest part of that state. Temperatures in the northern Rockies and northern Plateau were in the low-30s.

The forecast for today called for scattered showers and thundershowers from central Texas through the Plains and the northern half of the Mississippi Valley. Elsewhere, clear or partly cloudy skies were expected.

Fire-Fighting Tips Well Worth Repeating

DEAR READERS: Today begins Fire Prevention Week. I've had so much response to the column I published last year on the same occasion that I thought I'd reprint it:

In 1974 approximately 12,000 Americans perished in nearly three million fires. And in Canada, there were nealy 900 deaths caused by approximately 79,000 fires.

A large percentage of those who died were children, elderly persons, and invalids who had been left alone "for just a few minutes."

The chief causes of fires, in order of all the toll taken, were:

1. Smoking
2. Electrical wiring
3. Heating and cooking equipment
4. Children playing with matches
5. Open flames and sparks
6. Flammable liquids
7. Suspected arson
8. Chimneys and flues
9. Lightning
10. Spontaneous ignition.

The total loss due to fire in 1973 was an estimated $3,001,000,000 in the U.S.A. and 254 million in Canada.

Now for some tips that could save your life:

-Be sure your cigarette is out. Matches, too. And never leave matches and lighters within the reach of children.

-Don't run cords under rugs or over radiators where they may get damaged. And replace a cord if it is frayed.

-Never leave small children alone in the house. Not even for a few minutes.

-Have your wiring and electrical installations done by a professional.

-Store oily rags and paints in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.

-Never use flammable liquids for dry-cleaning indoors.

-Never smoke in bed.

-Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

Remember: Fire extinguishers put out 97 per cent of all fires on which they are sprayed, and most large fires start as small fires. So, invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher and keep it handy in your kitchen, or be a sport and buy one for your cottage, car, boat and the back bedroom.

More recently, some excellent fire-detection systems have become available to homeowners. Ask your local fire marshal about them.

NOW, in case of fire:

If you suspect fire, feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window. But first alert the rest of the household.

If you can't open the window, break it with a chair. Cover the rough edges with a blanket, sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, don't fumble around trying to find it. Get out and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it fails, you're trapped.

Once your out, stay out. No treasure-not even the family pet is worth risking a human life.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so. God bless. Have a good day!

Toledo Man Newest Ohio Millionaire

CLEVELAND (AP) — Richard D. Osborne says he knew for some time that he would win the $1 million first prize in the Ohio Lottery's Instant Jackpot Millionaire drawing, held at Thistledown Race Track Sunday.

"I knew I would win this game back in June," said the 49-year-old Toledo high school philosophy teacher. "But I can't explain how."

Osborne's prize came home on the first-place finish of Geuaga Bonsi in the $21,600-added Ohio Harvest Stakes, the eighth race of a ten-race card.

Osborne, who will receive a check for $100,000 in each of the next ten years, would not bring any supernatural element to account for his accurate premonition, saying only "I know it sounds strange, but I felt rather strongly I would win."

Osborne added his new-found wealth will enable him to expand his interest in photography. "Now I'll be able to buy a lot of expensive equipment I've wanted for awhile, and it should be very rewarding."

Apart from that, Osborne said he doesn't anticipate his new income to alter his life style. "My friends will still be my friends, and I'll still be Richard Osborne," he said.

Robert Woodrum of Sheffield Lake, the runnerup in the drawing, is $500,000 richer, and will receive $50,000 a year for the next ten years.

Two other Toledo men, Joseph K. Baun and Bernard Kwiatkowski, split the third place prize of $250,000.

In addition, the 51 other contest finalists will receive a $15,000 prize.

Winners were determined by a process in which the contestants names were coupled with numbers corresponding to the numbers on the horses' saddle cloths.

Annie Oakley was the United States' most famous marks-woman.

Blaze Kills 5 Persons

CINCINNATI (AP) — A fire, apparently started by a cigaret dropped on the sofa, swept through an apartment here early Sunday, killing a 42-year-old mother and her four children.

Firemen said the blaze blocked all exits on the upper floor of the four-story brick building. Witnesses said they saw the victims at the bedroom window, screaming for help.

Fire Marshall Glen Matthews said the victims' bodies were found in the mother's bedroom, indicating "it appeared to be a case of where in times of stress, all the children ran to the safety of their mother."

Killed Sunday were Dolores Burton, her three children John, 6; Crystal 3; Margaret, 8, and 21-year-old stepdaughter Debbie Metcalfe.

Storm Leaves Deadly Baja Trail

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) — Luis Izguerra Leon, who brought his family to this Baja California city two years ago to start a new life, had just seen his wife and four children buried in a common grave along wth hundreds of other victims of Hurricane Liza.

But he spurned a government offer to provide medical care for his only surviving child, 4-year-old Blanca Estela.

"She's getting medicine," he said Sunday. "In the morning I'll carry her to a doctor. I don't know what she has, but I believe it is the same illness I have: grief and loneliness."

Medics began a massive inoculation campaign against tetanus and typhoid Sunday as swarms of flies gathered over La Paz, where rescue workers were still digging bodies out of the mud.

Much of the city was flooded when an earthen dam burst as Liza swept in from the Pacific late last week, with heavy rain and winds up to 135 miles an hour.

Mexican President Luis Echeverria told reporters Sunday that 435 bodies of hurricane victims had been recovered in Baja California state. However, hundreds of other persons were listed as missing. Other officials had reported more than 600 bodies found, and government sources said unofficially that the toll could reach 1,000.

Izguerra and his daughter were among 15,000 hurricane survivors left homeless in Baja California, the peninsula that stretches about 700 miles south from California. Authorities estimated that another 24,000 persons were homeless in the Mexican states of Sonora and Sinaloa on the mainland.

Top-ranking Mexican officials met in La Paz on Sunday to oversee relief measures and start planning reconstruction of the storm-devastated area. The government said it was rushing in 100,000 meals and 40,000 temporary shelters by boat and plane.

The United States provided food and construction materials, flown in Saturday night aboard an Air Force C130 Hercules cargo plane.

In La Paz, electricity was restored Sunday only to hospitals, government offices and gasoline stations. Food was rationed at hotels and restaurants. Supplies of drinking water were sent in by truck but appeared to be running short.

Some survivors said they had received only one ration of water and food in the first 72 hours after the hurricane struck.

Izguerra spoke with reporters after finding his daughter alive at La Paz's agricultural institute, where the 4-year-old had been taken along with other children swept away from their homes and parents by the hurricane-caused flooding.

Deaf-Mute's Trial For Murder Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A deaf-mute accused of killing a neighbor woman goes on trial in Chillicothe Nov. 8, two years after he was committed to a mental institution to learn sign language so he could assist in his defense.

James Robert Hunt, 24, of Frankfort, Ohio, is charged with aggravated murder in the beating death of Ruth Arledge, 56, whose body was found in a roadside ditch in Tar Hollow State Forest on March 10, 1974.

Hunt, who lost his voice and hearing following an illness when he was 18 months old, was committed to Lima State Hospital under Ohio insanity laws.

Judge J. Donald Ratcliff of the Ross County Common Pleas Court admits to using a broad interpretation of that law, but said he believes committing Hunt to a mental institution to learn sign language was in Hunt's best interest.

"The reason why this fellow was committed was that he was unable to understand the charge against him," Ratcliff said. "The fellow was not insane, but because of the communication handicap he could not counsel in his own defense."

The judge said there was no precedent in Ohio for the order.

Ratcliff said he was aware Hunt could not remain in an institution indefinitely.

"My order stated that he was to be committed until he was able to communicate, but no longer than two years. I also said he should be sent to Lima State Hospital, and they in turn should get someone who could teach him...even if they had to go out of state."

However, Hunt's mother, Joyce, argues that the decision is "unfair to him, an injustice to him. I feel they think they had an easy thing with Bobby."

And she disputed contentions that her son could not communicate.

"He's always been able to communicate. He's able to communicate a little bit better than he used to (because of the formal training). I think they just tried to keep him under arrest. I was told that the communication Bobby and I had was very similar to the universal sign language."

His parents taught him a crude sign language, but he never had formal training until the judge ordered it.

Prosecutor Richard Ward disputed Hunt's mother's contention.

"The grand jury did find a basis to return an indictment," Ward maintained. "It's not like the sheriff's department said, 'We've got a homicide and we've got to nail somebody.'"

Schmidt Barely Wins Election

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Chancellor Helmut Schmidt has barely survived a conservative surge in national elections that cut his coalition government's ruling margin in parliament from 46 seats to eight.

Final returns in Sunday's election, with 91 per cent of those registered voting, gave Schmidt's Social Democratic party and its coalition partners, the Free Democrats, a combined total of 50.5 per cent, a drop from the 54.2 per cent they won in the 1972 election.

Challenger Helmut Kohl, who campaigned with the slogan "Freedom Instead of Socialism," led the conservative Christian Democrats to a popular vote of 48.6 per cent — up from 44.9 per cent in 1972. It was their best showing since West Germany's first chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, won an absolute majority in 1957.

Schmidt's survival as chancellor hinged on a renewed pledge by the coalition's junior partners, the Free Democrats, or liberals, to stick with the Social Democrats, giving the coalition a majority.

Commissioners OK Sheep Claims

Pickaway County Commissioners today approved payment of sheep claims to Edward Kuhlwein, Lockbourne, in the amount of $370.30.

Kuhlwein had nine sheep killed by dogs. Funds to pay farmers for livestock killed by dogs comes from the sale of dog licenses in the county.

In other business today, commissioners granted permission to General Telephone Co. to buy cable along Circleville Winchester Road, Circleville Groveport Road and Marcy Road. The total distance of line to be buried along the three roads is 26,500 feet.

They also approved the construction of a partition in the board of elections office. Present at today's meeting were commissioners Dick T. Tootle, Donald Strous and L. Robert Liston.

Deliberate Fire Destroys Columbus Man's Stolen Car

A car, stolen Friday or Saturday from a service station in Columbus, was destroyed by a deliberate fire on the Commercial Point Road.

The car, a 1973 Ford Pinto valued at $1,600, was owned by John Miller, Columbus, who apparently left the vehicle at a service station on Bethel Road Friday afternoon for repairs.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies found the car 7:20 a.m. Saturday on the Commercial Point Road, two-tenths of a mile south of the West Ford Road intersection.

Front seats had been removed and it had been set on fire.

The Scioto Township Fire Department was summoned to extinguish the blaze.

A "No Trespassing" sign and building permit card sign, valued at $15, were taken from a home under construction at 11593 Poplar St., Ashville.

The home-site is owned by George Nungester, Route 1, Orient.

Vandals splattered an egg against a 16 by 28-inch window at the 154 Villa Drive home of Lucille Salyers, breaking the window.

Thieves broke into a coin box at the Harden Chevrolet car wash, 324 W. Main St. About $15 in change was taken and $25 damage to the box was recorded.

About $15 damage was committed to an out house at the 9365 First St., Derby, home of Cora Puckett.

Thieves took a 20-foot aluminum extension ladder from a home owned by Mary McDevitt, 20259 Catherine Blvd., Route 5.

Two farm tractors, parked in a hayfield across from the Dresbach Church, were stripped of parts by thieves.

A battery and 10 gallons of fuel were taken from a tractor owned by Joe Baldwin, Route 2, Amanda, and a battery was taken from a tractor owned by Robert Cotton, Route 1, Stoutsville.

Jo Ann Simmons, 9757 Zane Trail Road, told deputies that thieves took a change purse containing $1 from the Porter's Laundramat, N. Court St.

Fire destroyed a barn and its contents 7:07 p.m. Saturday.

The barn was owned by Ray Davis, Florence-Chapel Pike. No dollar value was placed on the barn, which was used to house a tractor.

The Williamsport Fire Department fought the blaze.

Deputies treated 16-year-old Kathy Bryant, Lockbourne Lodge, for minor injuries she suffered 7:37 p.m. Sunday.

According to the report, Kathy and her sister Lora, 16, locked their wrists together with handcuffs.

Police Probe Four Burglaries

Circleville Police investigated four reported burglaries over the weekend.

Sharon Walls, 901 S. Washington St., told police that when she got in her car this morning she discovered that someone had broken into the car last night and removed her eight track tape player and seven tapes. The tape player was valued at $149, and the seven tapes were valued at $42.

Harold Binkley told police officers that when he opened the Circleville Oil Company bulk plant Saturday morning he discovered that two company trucks had been broken into and two Motorola Business Band two-way radios had been taken. Entry into the plant area was gained by cutting through a chain link fence at the northern end of the area. The thieves entered the trucks by prying open the wings.

The radios were valued at $1070 apiece. The incident is still under investigation by Ptl. James B. Ford.

Ptl. Ron Smith investigated a breaking and entering at the B. F. Goodrich Store that was discovered Sunday. Thieves broke a window to gain entry to the building, and once inside they removed two 19 inch color television sets. According to the report, the televisions were valued at $878.

The manager of the Cinema Theatre told police that someone gained entry to that building sometime Saturday night. Entry was made by removing the door handles from a set of double doors. The subjects also tried to gain entry through the rear of the building but were not successful. Nothing was taken, and damage to the doors was set at $50.

Grogan, Patriots Crush Raiders, 48-17

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Only three teams are still unbeaten ... and the New England Patriots still look unbeatable.

Three teams — the Oakland Raiders, San Diego Chargers and Washington Redskins — fell from the height of perfection Sunday in the National Football League, leaving only the Los Angeles Rams, Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings.

What's that?

You say you don't see the Patriots mentioned anywhere?

Well, they got perfection out of their systems early, losing their season opener about a month ago. But since then, it's been one upset after another for the Grogan Gang.

While the high-scoring Chargers were getting shut out 26-0 by the Denver Broncos and Washington was getting skinned 33-7 by the Chicago Bears, Oakland was becoming the latest victim of the Steve Grogan juggernaut.

Just as his passing and running had led the upstart Patriots past powerhouses Miami and Pittsburgh the past two weeks, his three TD tosses and two scoring sprints paved the way to their astounding 48-17 crushing of the Raiders.

While Los Angeles nosed out Miami 31-28 to stay unbeaten and Dallas defeated Seattle 28-13 to do the same (Minnesota puts its unbeaten mark on the line tonight against visiting Pittsburgh), Buffalo bombed Kansas City 50-17, Baltimore belted Tampa Bay 42-17, Cincinnati clubbed Cleveland 45-24, Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 14-13, Green Bay downed Detroit 24-14, St. Louis beat the New York Giants 27-21, San Francisco stopped the New York Jets 17-6 and Houston outfought New Orleans 31-26.

Patriots 48, Raiders 17

"Nobody is going to intimidate us any more. Now maybe we'll start intimidating people," Grogan said after he completed 10 of 14 passes for 165 yards and ran five times for another 56.

Broncos 26, Chargers 0

Rick Upchurch's 92-yard touchdown run with a punt and 57-yard pass reception that set up one of Jim Turner's four field goals — and Denver's demonic defense — did in the Chargers.

Bears 33, Redskins 7

"We knew what we had to do and that was play good football," Chicago Coach Jack Pardee said after his Bears did just that to pummel Washington. "You don't outsmart or outfinesse the Redskins. This was one of the Bears' biggest victories. It came against a team of playoff caliber."

Bob Avellini ran for one touchdown and passed for one, Walter Payton rushed for 104 yards and a touchdown and the Bears' defense racked up six quarterback sacks.

Rams 31, Dolphins 28

"I never think about my best day. I'm only interested in winning," said quarterback James Harris, who passed for 436 yards.

He completed 17 of 29 throws, two of them for touchdowns, and plunged one yard for another score. But the winning points came with less than two minutes to go on Tom Dempsey's 19-yard field goal.

Cowboys 28, Seahawks 13

The Cowboys spotted Seattle a pair of early Jim Zorn touchdown passes, then came roaring back on Roger Staubach's two second-period TD strikes and the running of Robert Newhouse.

Staubach's passes of eight yards to Drew Pearson and 25 yards to Charles Young put Dallas on top 14-13 and Newhouse, who finished with 120 yards, scored on a 24-yard third-period burst.

Bills 50, Chiefs 17

Joe Ferguson teamed with Bob Chandler on three short touchdown passes, O.J. Simpson broke loose for 130 yards — more than he's had in three previous games — and a pair of touchdowns and Jeff Kinney added 114 yards rushing in the Bills' romp.

Colts 42, Bucs 17

The Bucs finally scored their first touchdown of the season, but not until the closing minutes of the game. And not until Baltimore had scored seven straight times. Bert Jones passed for two touchdowns and Roosevelt Leaks ran for two in the stampede.

Bengals 45, Browns 24

Ken Anderson threw four touchdown passes, two apiece to Isaac Curtis and Lenvil Elliott, to lead Cincinnati past Cleveland.

Eagles 14, Falcons 13

Mike Boryla gambled and won on a fourth-down play with less than 4½ minutes to play, hitting Charles Smith with a nine-yard touchdown pass that put Philadelphia ahead. Then the Eagles blocked Nick MikeMayer's last-play 42-yard field goal attempt to preserve their victory.

Packers 24, Lions 14

Steve Odom caught a 40-yard TD pass from halfback Will Harrell and set up another score with an 88-yard kickoff return to give Green Bay its first victory and leave Detroit Coach Rick Forzano looking down the barrel of a gun again. A few weeks ago he'd been given a win-or-else ultimatum by Lions' owner William Clay Ford.

Cardinals 27, Giants 21

Steve Jones, a reserve running back, hauled in a three-yard Jim Hart pass for a touchdown and bulled three yards for another score to pace St. Louis past the winless Giants, who got a pair of short touchdown bursts from Larry Csonka.

49ers 17, Jets 6

San Francisco and the Jets played virtually even for three periods — the 49ers clinging to a 3-0 lead — before Cleveland Elam ran a Joe Namath fumble 31 yards for a touchdown and Sammy Johnson ran in from one yard out for another to put the game away.

Oilers 31, Saints 26

Defensive back C.L. Whittington recovered a fumble and raced 96 yards for a touchdown to close out a 21-point third quarter that helped Houston own the Saints. The game was marred by a five-minute free-for-all in the closing minutes.

Anderson, Bengals Beat Browns, 45-24

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cincinnati won the aerial circus Sunday in Cleveland Stadium, leaving the Cleveland Browns mumbling about a familiar problem—mistakes.

Bengals' quarterback Ken Anderson took the Cleveland Browns apart with his passing arm in a 45-24 victory, a triumph which came harder than the score would indicate. Anderson also overshadowed Brian Sipe's own passing show for Cleveland.

"I have never seen Ken Anderson sharper, not even the day that he was 20 of 22 against Pittsburgh," said Cincinnati Coach Bill Johnson. "To make an offense go, you have to hit on downfield passes like today. When he was 20 for 22, about 15 of those were to backs."

Anderson connected on 19 of 27 passing attempts for 265 yards and four touchdowns, while Sipe countered with a team-record 26 completions on 42 attempts, good for 290 yards and two touchdowns.

The Browns, who trailed 31-10 just before the half, made it 31-24 late in the third period and had a first down at Cincinnati's 14. Three plays netted one yard and Don Cockroft was wide on a 30-yard field goal attempt, his second miss from close in during the game.

The Bengals then drove 80 yards for the score that iced the game, with Anderson and Lenvil Elliott combining on a 30-yard touchdown pass for the capper.

"We missed the field goal and they shoved the ball down our throats on the next drive," Cleveland Coach Forrest Gregg said. "I don't know what to do. I'm bewildered. I never saw a team make as many mistakes as we have. Ever, ever.

"It's like a leak in a dam. I've used all my fingers and have one toe left," Gregg said.

"We made mistakes today we haven't made since the first day of training," said defensive back Neil Craig. "We (the defensive secondary) let the team down."

"I was worried the whole game, but that helps make it rewarding," said Johnson, in his first year as head coach of the Bengals. "I was disappointed with the defense. If I hadn't seen it, I wouldn't have believed the holes in our pass defense.

"I don't ever feel there's an area or a point where a game turns. I felt best, though, after our scoring drive which made it 38-24," he added.

Anderson connected with both wide receiver Issac Curtis and running back Elliott for a pair of scoring passes. He also drove the Bengals within range of a 40-yard Chris Bahr field goal and Boobie Clark's oneyard dive for the last touchdown.

The most explosive play of the day, however, was rookie Willie Shelby's 97-yard dash for a touchdown with the kickoff return following Cleveland's first touchdown. He roared through a gaping hole on the left side and scored untouched for a 14-7 Bengals' lead they never relinquished.

Cleveland, which now has lost three straight games, fell to 1-3, while Cincinnati moved to 3-1. The Browns take on Pittsburgh here next Sunday, while the Bengals will be home against Tampa Bay.

29 Players Free Agents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Andy Messersmith got his and now, through his efforts, it's time for 29 players from 11 major league baseball clubs to try to get theirs.

With the regular season completed Sunday, they're free agents and may sell their talents to the highest bidder. These players, in effect, played out their options in 1976 will go into a common draft Nov. 4.

The group includes such standouts as Reggie Jackson and Bobby Grich of Baltimore, Cincinnati's Don Gullett, Philadelphia's Dave Cash, Bill Campbell of Minnesota and six Oakland A's — Rollie Fingers, Bert Campaneris, Sal Bando, Joe Rudi, Don Baylor and Willie McCovey.

Of course, players from Philadelphia, Cincinnati and the New York Yankees, will have to wait until after the league championships-World Series are finished. Kansas City has no free agents.

Carroll Wins Mid State Golf

Bloom Carroll won the Mid State League golf tournament Friday at Lancaster Country Club with a 338 score.

Canal Winchester was second with a 355 team total, Fairfield Union third with a 372 total and Logan Elm fourth with 383.

For the Braves, Randy Watkins carded a 94, Jeff Kamler an 89, Paul Nagel a 96, Joe Scanlan and Ray Moats 104s.

Logan Elm has an overall record of six wins, seven losses and one tie and is in fourth place in the league standings as well as in the tournament.

Reds Top Braves; Griffey Loses

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The National League batting title boiled down to a race between Chicago's Bill Madlock and Cincinnati's Ken Griffey ... but Griffey was racing from the seat of his pants.

Griffey was batting .338 going into Sunday's final game and Madlock was at .333. Should Griffey play or sit it out?

A decision had to be made and Manager Sparky Anderson assembled the Reds' brain trust — Pete Rose, Joe Morgan, Johnny Bench and Tony Perez — to plot strategy in a closed-door meeting. They decided that Griffey should sit tight.

"Pride is a lot of nothing," Morgan told Griffey before the game. "You shouldn't have played yesterday and you shouldn't play today."

And he didn't ... until word reached Cincinnati that Madlock was having a big day against Montreal. Anderson immediately sent Griffey racing into the game, but he struck out in both his appearances. Madlock, meanwhile, turned in a clutch 4-for-4 performance and wrapped up his second straight batting crown, .339 to Griffey's .336.

"I wanted to play and I didn't want to play," said Griffey before leaving the clubhouse quickly after the game. "Whatever Anderson says, I do. I can't tell him who to play and not to play.

"I did not lose the batting title ... Bill Madlock won it."

For the record, the Reds walloped Atlanta 11-1 and Chicago whipped Montreal 8-2.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego edged Los Angeles 3-2, Philadelphia beat the New York Mets 2-1 and Pittsburgh beat St. Louis twice by 1-0 scores.

Anderson, who originally planned to start Griffey but had second thoughts, took the blame for benching him.

Padres 3, Dodgers 2

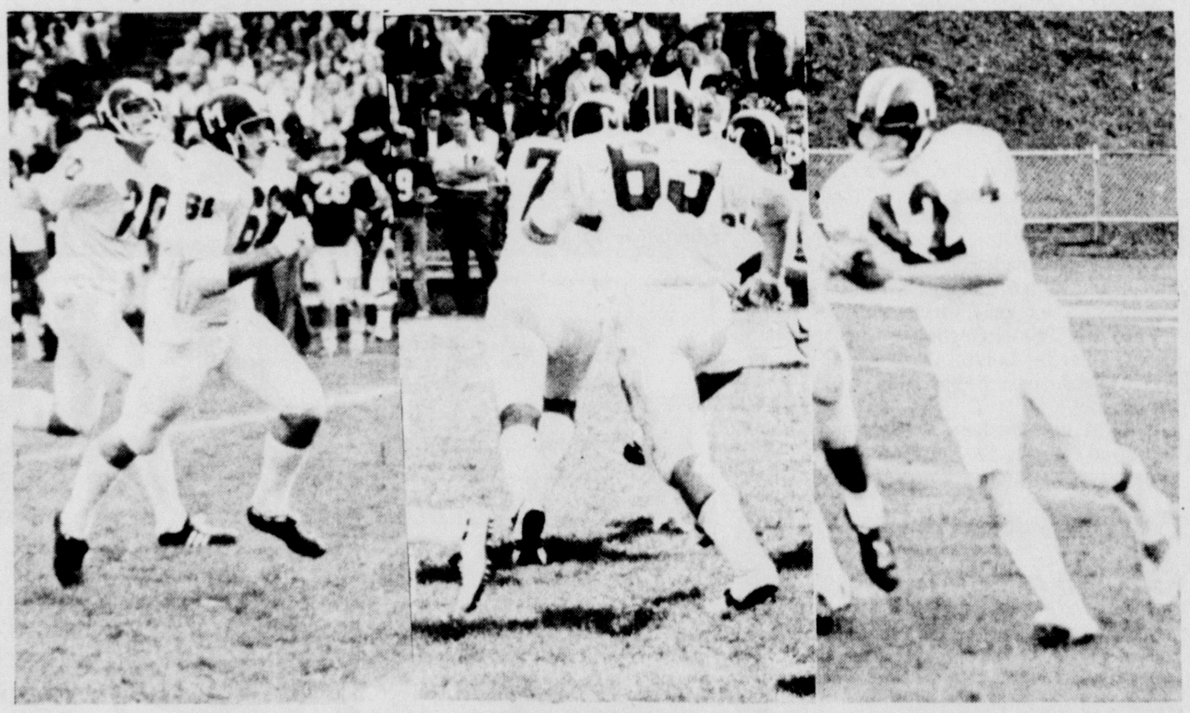
Walter Alston's 23-year career as manager of the Dodgers ended on a sour note as Doug Rau walked Merv Rettenmund with the bases loaded in the eighth inning to force in the winning run for San Diego. Rau, 16-12, was the loser and Rick Sawyer, 5-3, won it with a six-hitter. Alston, 64, announced last week that he is retiring and third base coach Tom Lasorda was named to replace him.

Phillies 2, Mets 1

Steve Carlton, who will open the NL championship series for Philadelphia Saturday night, stopped New York on three hits and struck out 12 batters to post his 20th victory. Tim McCarver knocked in the winning run with an RBI single in the fifth. Mike Schmidt didn't hit any home runs for the Phils, but neither did New York's Dave Kingman. That enabled Schmidt to win his third straight NL home run title with 38 to Kingman's 37.

Pirates 1-1, Cardinals 0-0

Jim Rooker, 15-8, bested John Denny, 11-9, in the opener with a seven-hitter and Jerry Reuss, 14-9, beat Pete Falcone, 12-16, with a five-hitter in the nightcap to provide Pittsburgh's retiring manager Danny Murtaugh with a going-away present.



PICKAWAY COUNTY — The area was well represented Saturday at Granville in the Denison-Muskingum college football matchup. Four men from Pickaway County high schools saw action for the Muskies in the contest. Pictured above are: Lee Stiles (61), a 1974 graduate of Teays Valley High School and a standout lineman for the Vikings; Tim McNaughton (63), a starting guard for the 1976 Muskies and a Circleville High School grad who gained All-SCOL honors with the Tigers; Jeff Reichelderfer (42) a freshman tailback at Muskingum who carried the pigskin for the Logan Elm Braves last fall and was tabbed All Mid State. Another 1974 Teays Valley Graduate, Bill Hurley, saw action at middleguard in Saturday's fray. Hurley was an All-Metro League fullback for the Vikings. The Muskies went on to rout the host Big Red 35-14 with both Denison scores coming late in the fourth quarter. Going into last week's game the Muskies were ranked third nationally in the NCAA Division III ratings. They are defending Ohio Conference grid champs and are 3-0 this year.

George Archer Wins Sahara Golf Clash

LAS VEGAS (AP) — George Archer was surprised by his victory.

"I didn't think I'd win this year," he said after some incredible scrambling brought him a two-stroke decision Sunday in the Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament — Archer's first triumph in four years.

"I was hoping maybe next year ... " he said, and let the sentence tail off.

"I wasn't playing winning style golf. I wasn't hitting it good enough to win. I didn't have the confidence to win.

"But," he said, flashing a big, broad, grin, "I was Houdini around the greens. I got it up and down just fantastic. My putting won it for me.

"And I was very, very fortunate. There's no doubt about it. I had all the luck — all the luck in the world. That's all there is to it."

Archer, once one of the game's most consistent performers, winner of the 1969 Masters and 10 other titles, had been plagued by a variety of ailments including torn tendons in the left wrist that eventually required surgery and threatened to end his career. He had seriously considered quitting the tour.

But he wiped out that frustration and fear with the most welcome triumph of his 13-year career, coming from behind with a scrambling, two-under-par 69 that gave him a 271 total — 13-under-par on the 6,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course and a two-stroke victory over defending champion Dave Hill and third-round leader Don January.

It was January who opened the way for Archer, scoring three consecutive bogeys, beginning on the seventh hole. He finished with a 73, while the fast-closing Hill shot a 67.

Another stroke back at 274 were Dr. Gil Morgan and Mike McCullough. Morgan also had a last-round 67, McCullough a 68. Neither ever really got in the title chase, however.

The 46-year-old January opened the sunny, breezy final day with a one-shot lead, once built it to three, then began his bogey string. That gave the 6-foot-5 Archer a share of the top spot at the turn. His scrambling kept him there and birdies on the 15th and 18th holes nailed down the victory against the late challenge of Hill.

Archer clinched the $27,000 first prize — almost as much as he had won in the last three years combined — with a chip to within a foot for a tap-in birdie on the 72nd hole.

Tiger Harriers Place 8th In Meet

Circleville competed in the 15-team London Invitational Cross Country Meet and finished eighth with a total of 176 points.

DeSales won the event with 74 points, Urbana was second with 83 points while Wehrle had 84 points for third. Fred Myers of New Albany placed first with a time of 9:34.

Finishing for the Tigers were: Dave Uland, 7th, 9:58; Dave Holbrook, 33rd, 10:40; Joel Baker, 36th, 10:42; Randy Speakman, 49th, 11:01; Rusty Holbrook, 51st, 11:05; Jeff Moorehead, 61st, 11:21; Wayne Rhodes, 80th, 11:47.

Circleville finishers in the reserve race were: Mel Beck, 30th, 12:33; Chuck Adams, 32nd, 13:01; Mark Beck, 33rd, 13:06.

Circleville will host Westfall and Logan in a tri meet 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Little Tigers Lose To Miami Trace

Circleville's freshman gridders suffered a 20-6 setback at the hands of visiting Miami Trace.

The Tigers only score came on a 14-yard run in the fourth period of the contest.

Trace picked up 14 points in the second quarter on a 40-yard pass play and a 10-yard run. The Panthers other tally came on a 12-yard touchdown run in the third canto.

Circleville is now 2-1 and will host Teays Valley 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Cranford Paces Aces Grid Win

Steve Cranford ran for two touchdowns to lead Amanda-Clearcreek to a 12-0 win over visiting Liberty Union.

Cranford scored from 35 yards out and also bulled his way over from the 3-yard line.

Coaches credited the whole team with a fine defensive and offensive performance.

The Aces will be at Fairfield Union 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Fall Roundup Scramble At Upper Lansdowne

The team of Robin Ott and Mona Welch carded a 73 to take low gross honors in the Upper Lansdowne Fall Roundup Scramble Sunday.

Leonard Campbell and Connie Gloyd took low net with a 58, Owen Fullen and Waldo Martin were low putt winners with 27, Mona Welch was closest to the pin while Jerry Cook had the longest putt.

Vikings Frosh Top Hamilton Rangers

Teays Valley's freshman football team turned in a great defensive performance to gain an 8-0 win over Hamilton Twp. on the Rangers gridiron.

After battling through three scoreless periods, Dan Zeimer blocked a Hamilton punt to set up the Vikings touchdown and two-point conversion. conversion.

Bill Pettibone intercepted two Ranger passes and Matt Midler grabbed one to lead a strong Vikings secondary.

Teays Valley is now 2-0 in Metropolitan League competition.

Former Top Grid Powers Being Unseated

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

How the mighty have fallen.

—Eighth-ranked Ohio State is 2-1-1 following a 10-10 standoff with No. 4 UCLA. That's the worst start for Woody Hayes' Buckeyes since 1967, when they dropped two of their first three games.

—Tenth-ranked Alabama is 2-2 in the wake of a 21-0 whipping by No. 6 Georgia, the poorest getaway for Bear Bryant and the Crimson Tide since the 6-5-1 campaign of 1970.

—And Penn State, the perennial Eastern champs and No. 20 nationally last week but a 22-6 loser to Kentucky, is a grisly 1-3, something that hasn't happened in the Nittany Valley since 1965, the year before Joe Paterno took over. To boot, the Lions, who haven't had a sub-.500 season since 1938, are saddled with a three-game losing streak for the first time in 12 years.

Despite a 22-21 loss to Missouri a week ago, Hayes called UCLA "the best team we've played all year."

Said 'Bama's Bear: "We lost to a superior football team. That's an understatement, I'm sure. They wanted it awfully bad and they deserved it. They have a very fine team, but don't ask me how good they are."

"We're not a super team," said Georgia's Vince Dooley. "We're an experienced football team, and that counts. We beat Alabama head-to-head at all positions."

"What can I say after we got the devil kicked out of us?" lamented Paterno.

Besides Penn State, the only other real upset victim in The Associated Press' Top Twenty was 16th-ranked Mississippi, which bowed to Auburn 10-0. Elsewhere, No. 11 Louisiana State dropped a 28-23 Southeastern Conference squeaker to No. 19 Florida and 12th-ranked Missouri trounced previously unbeaten North Carolina, the No. 14 team, by a 24-3 count.

The most impressive winner was 13th-ranked Southern California. The Trojans continued to rebound from an openinggame loss to Missouri by crushing Iowa 55-0 for their third consecutive victory. Back-up quarterback Rob Hertel tied a school record by throwing four touchdown passes.

Meanwhile, top-rated Michigan blanked stubborn Wake Forest 31-0; runner-up Pitt got a school record five touchdown passes from Matt Cavanaugh and outlasted Duke 44-31; thirdranked Oklahoma turned back Iowa State 24-10 on Horace Ivory's 62-yard run and Jerry Anderson's 58-yard interception return, both in the last 4½ minutes; and Vince Ferragamo rallied No. 5 Nebraska to a 17-9 triumph over Miami, Fla. with second-half scoring tosses of 32 yards to Chuck Malito and 23 to Dave Shamblin.

Seventh-ranked Maryland nailed down a 20-9 decision over unheralded Villanova on Mark Manges' 48-yard thirdquarter TD pass to Chuck White. Ninth-ranked Kansas held off Wisconsin 34-24 as Nolan Cromwell surprised the Badgers with three long passes, including a 29-yard touchdown to Waddell Smith, and scored himself on runs of three, 64 and six yards.

Oft-injured Dave Zumbach caught his first two passes of the year, both for touchdowns, to lead No. 15 Boston College past Navy 17-13 and Rick Slager threw for two touchdowns while No. 18 Notre Dame's defense played its third straight game without yielding a touchdown as the Irish trimmed Michigan State 24-6. Texas Tech, No. 17, was idle.

In other noteworthy developments, Army posted its biggest triumph in years, scoring all its points in the final 20 minutes to nip Stanford 21-20; Tennessee silenced some of Coach Bill Battle's critics by shading Clemson 21-19; once-mighty Miami of Ohio fell to 0-5 via a 42-20 setback at the hands of Purdue; Olympic sprinter Johnny "Lam" Jones romped for 182 yards and two touchdowns as Texas punished Rice 42-15; and flanker Wesley Walker caught eight passes for 289 yards — most ever by a Pac-8 player — and three scores in California's 43-16 rout of San Jose State.

Rob Lytle rushed for 110 yards, scored twice and passed Tom Harmon for fifth place on Michigan's all-time groundgaining list as the Wolverines whipped Wake Forest.

With Duke keying on Pitt's shifty Tony Dorsett, the Panthers unveiled a new series of pass plays and Cavanaugh connected for scores of 66 and 10 yards to Willie Taylor, 27 to Jim Corbett and 37 and 24 to Gordon Jones.

UCLA and Ohio State scored a touchdown and a field goal apiece and then sat on the ball in the closing minutes. Ohio State called seven consecutive rushing plays and drew a round of boos from the hometown fans by punting from the UCLA 47 with 35 seconds left. The Bruins then killed the clock with three running plays.

Bill Kynes, Florida's secondstring quarterback, scored one touchdown and passes 10 yards to Jimmy Stephens for another against LSU. The Gators' defense stopped the Tigers at the five-yard line as time ran out.

Curt Brown's 52-yard gallop enabled Missouri's giant-killers to pull away from North Carolina. "We had to show ourselves and our fans we could beat someone who wasn't ranked as high as Southern Cal and Ohio State," quipped quarterback Pete Woods.

Neil O'Donoghue kicked a 44-yard field goal in the opening period against Ole Miss and Auburn made it stand up until Phil Gargis' five-yard touchdown run in the final minute.

Derrick Ramsey scored on runs of one and 61 yards to lead Kentucky over Penn State for what Coach Fran Curci called "my greatest win ever."

Alabama's loss to Georgia virtually killed its chances of a sixth consecutive SEC crown. The Tide is 1-2 in league play and mathematically alive, but no team has ever won the title with two losses.

Matt Robinson started the scoring with a three-yard run eight seconds before halftime and passed six yards to Ulysses Norris for the Bulldogs' final tally. Meanwhile, the defense never permitted Alabama inside Georgia's 19-yard line and handed the Tide its first shutout in 70 games.

Big Ten Gridders Have Bad Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two winners, one standoff and a bunch of losers. That was the story in the Big Ten last Saturday when conference teams ended their battles against intersectional foes and looked ahead to seven weeks of conference play.

Michigan, the nation's No. 1 team, blanked Wake Forest 31-0 and unranked Purdue defeated Miami of Ohio 42-20. Ohio State had to settle for a 10-10 tie against tough UCLA.

Everybody else lost. It was Texas A&M 14, Illinois 7; North Carolina State 24, Indiana 21; Southern Cal 55, Iowa 0; Notre Dame 24, Michigan State 6; Washington 38, Minnesota 7; Arizona 27, Northwestern 15 and Kansas 34, Wisconsin 24.

BGSU Tops Western; Wins 31-28

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green handed Western Michigan its first Mid-American Conference football loss of the season Saturday, but Falcons Coach Don Nehlen said afterward the Broncos are a team that will "have to be reckoned with."

"Western will cause a lot of problems in this league," Nehlen observed after Bowling Green squeaked out a 31-28 triumph.

The victory was the Falcons' second in as many MAC contests and gave them sole possession of second place in the standings, a half-game behind Ohio University, which upped its record to 3-0 with a 34-8 smashing of Toledo Saturday.

All other MAC teams played outside the league, with Miami suffering its fifth straight loss of the season, 42-20, at the hands of Purdue, Ball State downing Dayton 20-13, Kent State edging the Air Force 24-19, Central Michigan beating Illinois State 26-7, and Eastern Michigan being subdued by Northern Michigan 28-6. Northern Illinois was idle.

In other Ohio college football action Saturday, eighth-ranked Ohio State and fourth-rated UCLA battled to a 10-10 stalemate in a game dominated by a pair of tough defensive units.

Unbeaten Cincinnati handed Southern Mississippi its fourth straight loss 28-21 behind the passing of Art Bailey with three touchdown aerials.

In Hoosier-Buckeye Conference play, Defiance downed Anderson 24-6 as tailback Duane Davis scampered for 139 yards; Wilmington edged Findlay 18-14 on a fourth quarter touchdown by halfback Jeff Snider, and Bluffton rolled over Earlham 35-13 as reserve quarterback John Zickafoose threw two touchdown passes.

Presidents Conference action saw Allegheny romping over John Carroll 35-14 as Tibor Solymosi scored three touchdowns and Washington & Jefferson battling from behind to beat Case Western 15-14 on a thirdquarter field goal by Steve Cox.

Elsewhere, it was Western Illinois 28, Youngstown 12; Central State 24, Tennessee State 18; Muskingum 35, Denison 14; Wittenberg 55, Ohio Wesleyan 21; Wooster 9, Hiram 6; Kenyon 32, Kalamazoo, Mich. 0; Carnegie-Mellon, Pa. 51, Oberlin 7; Capital 22, Marietta 14; Baldwin-Wallace 42, Ashland 30; Otterbein 16, Ohio Northern 14; Akron 34, Indiana State 7.

Robinson Rehired

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Robinson, major league baseball's first black manager when hired by the Cleveland Indians two years ago, was signed today for a third season, General Manager Phil Seghi announced.

But this time he wasn't being called upon to play as he was in his first two seasons with the club.

Seghi said he and Robinson "discussed the team in general and its over-all improvement" in a morning meeting finalizing the contract.

Cincinnati Reds Lead In Attendance

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, despite the second smallest fan market in the big leagues, have topped the major leagues in attendance for only the second time in history.

The defending world champions drew 2,629,708—the fourth best attendance mark ever.

Only the 1962 and 1974 Los Angeles Dodgers and the 1970 New York Mets have drawn more fans. The Reds season total was 126,000 shy of the all-time mark set by Los Angeles in 1962, the year the club moved into Dodger Stadium.

Mickey Mantle still holds the World Series records for most homers, 18, and most runs batted in, 40. He played in 12 World Series with the New York Yankees.

Lewis Flick, playing for Little Rock, Ark., in a Southern Association game in 1946, made nine hits in nine trips to the plate. The game went 19 innings.

AL Batting Crown Stirs Dispute

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The hit separating George Brett and Hal McRae in the final American League batting race didn't make much of a hit with either Kansas City player.

After 1,170 combined trips to the plate for Brett and McRae, the AL batting title teetered on their final at bats in the Royals' game against Minnesota Sunday. Going into the ninth inning, McRae was hitting .3326, Brett was batting .3322.

Brett, batting third, lofted a seemingly catchable fly to left field. But the ball fell in front of Steve Brye and skipped past him, as Brett raced home with an inside-the-park home run and a .3333 batting average.

McRae contended that Brye deliberately let the ball drop. "I was surprised," McRae said. "I saw the guy come in and go back, then come in and stop. He played it so well it went for a home run."

Brett agreed with McRae, saying: "I thought he let it drop."

McRae, following Brett in the Royals' batting order, needed a hit to win the batting title. He grounded out, and finished with a .3321 average.

Only he wasn't finished hitting. He gestured at the Twins' dugout, shouting that Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch had ordered Brye's misplay. Both McRae and Mauch then had to be restrained.

McRae, who is black, indicated that he thought racial motivations were behind the play, but he refused to elaborate. Brett and Brye are both white.

"This is America," McRae said. "Not that much has changed."

After the game, won by Minnesota 5-3, Mauch was visibly upset by McRae's accusations.

"I told Steve Brye before the game to play Brett behind the shortstop," said Mauch. "He was just too far back.

"I trust Steve Brye implicitly. If I didn't, I'd do all I could to have him thrown out of baseball."

Brye said he misplayed the ball.

"I just messed up," he said. "I played the ball too cautiously. I didn't want it to get by me. If I had gone for a shoestring catch and missed, the same thing would have happened."

The rest of the AL ended the 1976 regular season with less fireworks. Hank Aaron quietly ended one of the best careers in baseball history with a sixth-inning single in his final major league at bat, but his Milwaukee Brewers lost to Detroit 5-2. Elsewhere, Boston nipped Baltimore 3-2 in 15 innings, Texas blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0 and California edged Oakland 1-0.

The New York Yankees, who open the AL playoffs at Kansas City Saturday, did not play Sunday, their scheduled doubleheader with Cleveland knocked out by rain.

Tigers 5, Brewers 2

Hank Aaron, baseball's most prolific home run hitter, stroked a single in his final at bat. "I wasn't thinking anything in particular," he said. "i was thinking about what I thought the first time I came up. I just wanted to get a hit."

Aaron was replaced by a pinch runner, and the 6,858 paid tribute to a certain future Hall of Famer with a standing ovation.

"It's a sad occasion for me," said Aaron. "But I think about retirement and I could think about some of the bright spots in my career. I'm just glad it's over."

After 23 years, Aaron's line reads: 755 home runs, 3,771 hits and 2,297 runs batted in. But he gave more to baseball than cold statistics. He provided the sport with dignity and class.

Angels 1, A's 0

Seven players made, probably, their final appearances in Oakland uniforms as the A's were beaten by Nolan Ryan's two-hit, 14-strikeout performance.

Joe Rudi, Sal Bando, Gene Tenace, Don Baylor, Bert Campaneris, Rollie Fingers and Willie McCovey are free agents today, free to leave the kingdom of owner Charles O. Finley.

"Finley is the reason this club is splitting up," said Tenace. "He didn't show any interest in signing the guys, just some weak offers. But the guys played hard and came close (to winning). He doesn't realize the type of guys he has."

Red Sox 3, Orioles 2

The 1976 season was disappointing for both Boston and Baltimore but the teams extended their seasons with a 15-inning finale, won by Rick Burleson's two-out single.

The victory lifted the Red Sox, last year's AL champions, into third place in the AL East, one-half game ahead of Cleveland. The Orioles, who never seriously challenged the Yankees, finished second.

Rangers 3, White Sox 0

Len Barker beat Chicago with a three-hitter in his second major league appearance.

Forego Victorious In Major Turf Tilts

NEW YORK (AP) — Two weeks in New York were a bundle of fun — and money — for William Shoemaker of California. Of course, he had the advantage of riding Forego twice.

The Shoe started his stay in New York by riding Forego in the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes and the big gelding turned in an amazing performance.

For a sendoff to Shoemaker Saturday, Forego was merely incredible in the $283,700 Marlboro Cup at Belmont Park.

"I've ridden a lot of horses but this has got to be the best," said Shoemaker, who has ridden more than 7,000 winners, including winners of 115 stakes each worth at least $100,000.

Construction of the Brooklyn Bridge began Jan. 2, 1870.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You will have less opposition in certain areas than you expect. Take the bit by the teeth; put beliefs, intuitive ideas actively to work.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A day of mixed influences. Be careful in your approaches. Others may read more into your words and actions than you intend.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A good Mercury aspect. Augment your program with something special, extra fine. Trump competition's moves with quiet, tactful skill.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Persons in your occupational circle may seem to be rather demanding, but try to realize that overaggressiveness is often a sign of inner insecurity and respond accordingly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 21): Do not be overly concerned with setbacks, opposition. Taken philosophically, they can be teachers, stabilizers. Some fine advantages in the offing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Don't flounder about without a set and clear target. Know where you stand and HOW you intend to accomplish. Then the doing will be truly effective, stimulating.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A day for gathering information, sifting details of a project you have in mind. Well prepared, you should conclude it satisfactorily.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Auspicious influences indicate new opportunities, reception of delayed recognition, the successful conclusion of pending negotiations. All in all, a good day!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Be alert now. Scrutinize all situations before acting. Rule out doubt, fear of failure. You have the know-how!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You must reckon with strong opposition now. But with tact, good judgment and your innate perceptiveness, you should be able to overcome it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to FEb. 19): There is a prevalent tendency toward unconventionality. Don't join those who are indiscreet. Bend backwards, in fact, to give a good example of the wisdom of conservative action.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Extraordinarily fine influences! There will be many means at your disposal for achieving goals, reaping an abundant harvest of gratifying rewards. A time for ACTION!

YOU BORN TODAY are highly idealistic, versatile in the arts and are willing to work hard to achieve your lofty ambitions. Your sympathies and great understanding of others fit you for a position in the fields of medicine, the law or sociology. But you have a light side, too, and are extremely popular socially, a scintillating performer in the theater, a born entertainer, generally. You have a great affinity for music, sculpture and painting and enjoy them all. Lacking the patience to perfect yourself in them, however, they are unlikely to provide a source of income. Birthdate of: Joshua Logan, theatrical producer; Chester A. Arthyr, 21st Pres., U.S.A.

Russian casualties in World War I totaled 9,250,000 between 1914 and 1917.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Forget Barbara Walters' debut with Harry Reasoner on ABC. The big news is that "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" starts its second syndicated season tonight in some areas.

It was such a hit in Season No. 1 a press kit about the show was moved to say: "The media's attention has been tremendous."

Hmm. Well, Louise Lasser, 37, is back as the spacey housewife who started the series by mainly worrying about "waxy yellow buildup" on her kitchen floor and a neighborhood murder.

Tonight, she starts in the pyschiatric ward of a hospital in mythical Fernwood, Ohio, having suffered a nationally televised breakdown while appearing on "The David Susskind Show." Weird.

But don't forget her marriage to Tom Hartman (Greg Mullavey) went sour, she had a hospital-bed affair with a lecherous cop, and generally suffered so much that Job now wants equal time.

So much for past history. New history is the daily soap-and-satire opera begins today in 25 major cities, later in 95 other towns, according to the Norman Lear works, which makes the show.

The show commences with the head of Fernwood hospital's psychiatric department watching a videotape replay of Mary's breakdown on the Susskind show. Her anguish makes him extremely happy.

He sees the publicity about it and her stay at his bailiwick as "a wonderful opportunity for our staff — for our budget."

Mary, meanwhile, is curled up in a corner of her ward next to a potted plant. Around her is a small-screen, mixed-company version of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," minus Nurse Ratched.

One lady inmate praises her courage in having a nationally televised breakdown. She says Mary has made "b-d's" very respectable. Says Mary: "I'm not a carrier." BD, not VD, the lady tells her.

She says because Mary made public breakdowns so respectable, "I wouldn't be surprised if Harry Reasoner did it next."

Tom comes to see Mary. The desk nurse can't find her files. Then we learn the couple's pal, Charlie Haggers (Graham Jarvis), also is in the Fernwood hospital — with a gunshot wound.

His country music star wife (Mary Kay Place) is with him, and worried — take a deep breath, now — about the broken nose he got from the recoil of the shotgun he fired at a guy who shot him down low.

Whew. The finale has the inmates of Mary's mental ward gathered around a TV set. The set has a little box on it. The nurse explains that the box is used to help gather TV ratings.

Mary is wide-eyed. And says: "I can't believe that I, Mary Hartman, am finally a member of a Nielsen family."

This may be Norman Lear's little joke about ratings, but I am not certain. I am certain all this makes a pretty funny start for Season No. 2 of "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Urge Revamping Of Prison System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A prison study workshop has called for revamping of the state's prison system, and for a moratorium on prison construction coupled with reductions in the inmate population.

The study concluded that "Citizen neglect" is responsible for a state penal system that violates rights and does not reduce crime.

The workshop session, which ended Saturday, was organized by the Ohio Council of Churches and cosponsored by seven other state organizations.

The Rev. Norman Prichard and Christopher Conybeare, cochairmen of the three-day Prison Crisis Conference said the group confirmed earlier findings that the prison system violates constitutional and human rights and that it is ineffective in reducing crime.

"The basic problem (with the state's prisons) has been citizen neglect," Conybeare said. "The general community is ignorant of what goes on in prisons and how ineffectively their money is being spent."

The Rev. Mr. Prichard said the public will have to be educated about the prison system.

Additional recommendations include investigations of recent protests at the prison reception center, at the former Ohio Penitentiary, joining a national coalition for abolition of capital punishment and changing the parole process.

The conference also supported establishment of a prison oversight committee, a review committee to examine sentencing policies and efforts to bring about improved medical care.

Conybeare said specific recommendations to set in motion those outlined by the conference will be made by the end of the month.

The church council was criticized earlier by the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction officials for interfering in the operation of the prisons.

"We feel perhaps we were condemned before we started," Conybeare said Saturday. "I think that was unfair."

He said corrections officials ignored invitations to participate in the conference.

Columbus Strike Talks To Resume

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Negotiations resume at 1 p.m. today in the four-day-old walkout by 1,300 Columbus nonuniformed employes, as the city was forced over the weekend to continue dumping raw sewage into the Scioto River.

Talks recessed Friday after striking Council 53 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes raised its wage demands to 63-cents-an-hour. Finance director Michael Gable said the city's total offer amounts to 30 cents.

The city's two sewage treatment plants were closed when the strike began Friday. Supervisory personnel reopened the city's Southerly plant on Saturday and cut the discharge of raw sewage into the Scioto River to approximately 83 million gallons a day.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency may issue a director's order requesting the city of Columbus to reopen the Jackson Pike treatment plant.

Assistant EPA Director Earl Richards said if the order were issued, the city would have to go to court against the striking city employes' union to get the facility opened.

Richards said opening the Southerly plant is insufficient and that both plants must be operating.

"It is a really serious condition," Richards said. "The oxygen content is low, and test crews Saturday morning saw some dead fish."

The Army Corps of Engineers has doubled the flow of water from the Alum Creek Reservoir and has been asked to release more water from the Delaware Reservoir to help dilute the river, Richards said.

Regional Postmaster Retires Friday

Circleville Postmaster Harry L. Payne announced today that Clarence B. Gels has retired as Regional Postmaster General for the 13-state Central Postal Region effective at the close of business October 1. He received the announcement from Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar.

Bailar said Senior Assistant Postmaster General Carl C. Ulsaker will serve as acting Regional Postmaster General for the Central Region until a replacement for Gels is named.

"Clarence Gels has served his county and the Postal Service well since he entered the service as Director of the Old Minneapolis Region in 1969," Bailar said. "The fact that during his tenure he received the Presidential Management Improvement Award for Efficiency in government operations attests to the value of his contributions." The Central Region includes the states of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

State Auditor Distributes School Funds

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson announced the distribution of the September State School Foundation Subsidy payment of funds to Ohio's 613 city, exempted village and local school districts.

The total payments to Pickaway County is $227,022.72. The net payment to individual school districts are: Circleville City, $74,985.98; Logan Elm, $47,477.61, Teays Valley, $61,244.30 and Westfall, $43,314.83.

The direct allotment to the county board of education is $20,087.65.

These payments are sent to the county auditor who distributes the amounts due the districts within the county.

Ferguson additionally reported the funds distributed to 43 joint vocational school districts representing their September allotment.

Payments to these school districts are sent directly to the districts' clerk-treasurers.

Totals for Pickaway County in areas for basic and transportation allowances is $318,395.79.

Subtracted from the total allotment is the school employees retirement funds which totals $11,872 and the state teachers retirement fund, $59,413.42 for all schools in the district.

These funds have been temporarily withheld because of the state's financial squeeze.
